Fires Increase Tenfold In Kansas City Strike

STRIKING FIREFIGHTERS ARE ACCUSED

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — City officials say they believe striking firefighters are responsible for some of the 217 blazes which have erupted since firefighters walked off their jobs Friday in a pay dispute.

Fire Director Frank Spink said there are "strong indications that arson was involved in six fires" over the weekend, and police reported one firebombing Sunday night.

Spink said the city had asked surrounding communities which have mutual aid agreements with Kansas City for firefighting assistance, but "got no's, no's, no's. There were burning, and nobody would do anything."

He said union agreements in the other cities take precedent over the mutual aid pact.

Police Chief Joseph McNamara said many fires were deliberately set, "not random acts, but well-planned arsons, committed by people knowledgeable about fires."

Charles Shafer, an attorney for the Kansas City firefighters' union, denied that any union members were involved in starting fires. And Joe McMahon, an international union vice president, said Mayor Charles B. Wheeler Jr. had "made a clown out of himself ... by accusing the firefighters of arson and sabotage. This is a cheap shot being aimed at the firefighters."

Nearly 800 National Guardsmen assisted hundreds of police officers, public works employees and volunteers in battling some 50 fires Sunday — more than 10 times the number usually reported.

Wheeler dismissed 59 striking firefighters who refused to report for duty Sunday night.

calling the dismissals a "test situation." He said he expected to take no further action before a Jackson County Circuit Court hearing Thursday on the city's request for an injunction against the strike.

A spokesman for Local 42 of the International Association of Firefighters said its 858 members voted "100 per cent" late Sunday to continue the strike.

None of Sunday night's fires were major, although several occurred in apartment buildings in older sections of the city and residents had to be evacuated. No serious injuries were reported, but a number of substitute firefighters were treated for smoke inhalation.

Firefighters from nearby Gladstone helped battle several blazes in Kansas City during the weekend and then received anonymous telephone calls threatening "to burn our town down, but so far there have been no overt acts," according to Gladstone Fire Capt. Russ Mullenix.

Police said Missouri law allows the use of firearms by police officers to prevent an act of arson or to apprehend an arsonist.

Armed guardsmen and police patrolled Kansas City streets Sunday night searching for arsonists or witnesses.

Black said he believed the union would outlast guardsmen and volunteers.

"I know we are going to wear every damn one of them out, including Mayor Wheeler. When it's over and we go back to work, all those finks that went along with it, they're going to get theirs," he said.

One-Car Smashups Kill Two Area Men

Two people were killed and a third was injured seriously in two separate but similar single-car accidents on southwestern Michigan roads over the weekend.

A Bainbridge township farm worker, James Lee Davis, 25, was killed Saturday night when his car went off Bainbridge Center road in Berrien county and slammed into a tree.

In Cass county, Cecil C. Mourning, 30, 112 Ashland street, Dowagiac, was killed and his wife, Yvonne, 28, injured when their car careened off M-62 and hit several trees early yesterday morning. Sheriff's deputies in both counties said the cars were traveling at high rates of speed when they left the road.

The death of Davis, box 521, Bainbridge Center road, Bainbridge township, was the 42nd traffic death in Berrien county so far this year — eight more than in all of 1974.

The Cass county death was the 17th in the county so far this year.

The two deaths were among three in southwestern Michigan since Friday. Lyle Cheney, 19, Knox, Ind., was killed Friday night when a car he was in was involved in a smashup near New Buffalo.

Throughout the state, only 13 other people were killed in the same time span, according to Associated Press.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said Davis, who worked on the Virgil Schmaltz farm during the summer and lived in Indiana in the winter months, was alone when his car left the road about 9:12 p.m. Deputies said it took nearly two hours to remove the body from the wreckage. The when it left the road, clipped several trees and rolled over. The crash occurred about 1:30 a.m.

According to deputies, the Mourning's were found outside the wreckage by deputies. Mourning was pronounced dead at the scene.

Mrs. Mourning was taken to Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac, and then transferred to Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, where she was reported in serious condition today.

Socialists Win

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Austrian voters rejected predictions of hard times ahead and returned Chancellor Bruno Kreisky's Socialist party to power Sunday with a gain of one seat and an absolute majority in Parliament. The Interior Ministry said the Socialists captured 94 seats in the 183-seat legislature.

SLA Letter Urges Spree Of Kidnaping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A communique signed "Symphonious Liberation Army" and proclaiming that the "SLA lives on" urged terrorists to go on a kidnaping spree among the rich to raise bail money for their imprisoned comrades.

The FBI said there is no way to immediately determine the authenticity of the communique, similar in format to past messages from the SLA and delivered to media in three California cities during the weekend.

The missive promises future proof that the SLA remains strong and active, despite a statement by FBI agent Charles Bates after the Sept. 18 arrests of Patricia Hearst, Bill and Emily Harris that all members of the terrorist group were either dead or in custody.

A source close to the investigation said Sunday it is possible that some members of the SLA may be unknown and still at large.

Six SLA members, including leader Donald DeFreeze, were killed in a Los Angeles shootout with police in May 1974. Members Russell Little and Joseph Remiro were convicted earlier this year of the murder of Oakland School Supt. Marcus Foster.

But the source said about 28 SLA code names had been found in one early hideout and "only 11 of the SLA names have been accounted for. Six are dead. Two are in prison. Then there's Patty and Emily and Bill Harris."

The new communique said in part:

"The SLA lives on in spirit and military strength and will give proof of this in the future. For now, we call upon the allied units of the people's armies to turn our loss into victory by uniting in a mass effort to make nationwide arrests of the rich, fascist insects to be released only when bail has been posted for all our comrades with funds from the honey-laden hives of the ruling class."

Miss Hearst, who said in a court affidavit that she was tortured and brainwashed into joining the SLA after members of the group kidnaped her on Feb. 4, 1974, is being held without bail awaiting trial on a San Francisco bank robbery charge. Her parents, Catherine and Randolph Hearst, visited her Saturday and Sunday at the San Mateo County jail in Redwood City, Calif.

Hearst, president of the San Francisco Examiner, said as he left the jail Sunday that "it was a visit like the others we've been having. There was talk about family and friends, things like that."

Miss Hearst is being examined by court-appointed psychiatrists and a psychologist to determine if she is mentally competent for cross-examination on her affidavit.

Her attorneys said Sunday that a hearing has been rescheduled from Tuesday to Wednesday at the request of the psychiatrists. Attorney F. Lee

Socialists Sue FBI For Smear Attempt

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI mailed phony letters to top Michigan Democrats in a 1965 effort to persuade them that Socialists had infiltrated the Young Democrats Club at Wayne State University, according to newly-disclosed FBI documents.

The documents, made public Sunday in Washington, also show that the FBI told Cleveland school officials that a local music teacher was married to a Socialist Workers party activist.

The FBI claimed that the action prompted the school board to fire the woman.

The documents were released by the Political Rights Defense Fund which represents the Socialist Workers in a $27 million lawsuit accusing the FBI of unconstitutional harassment and disruption of legitimate political activity.

The FBI was required by a court order to turn over the secret files to the party.

Many files in the latest batch provided the party describe acts undertaken as part of the FBI's broad counterintelligence programs, known as Cointelpro, against the Socialist Workers and various political militants on the right and left.

But some of the documents show that the FBI was interviewing and keeping files on party members in 1972 and 1973. The FBI has said the formal Cointelpro operation ended in April 1971.

The defense fund described the Michigan incident as an attempt "to poison relations between the Michigan Democratic party and its youth affiliate" on the Detroit campus.

"This incident is the first documented case in which the FBI tried to disrupt the affairs of either the Democratic or Republican parties," said a defense fund statement.

The documents show that the Detroit FBI office clipped news accounts from the Wayne State newspaper reporting allegations that the Young Socialist Alliance had infiltrated the Young Democrats. One report quoted YSA leader Jan Garrett as denying there was any infiltration and labeling the charge "completely ridiculous."

But the Detroit FBI office won headquarters approval to mail copies of the clippings and a phony letter, purportedly from a Wayne State student, to the Democratic State Central Committee and six other state and city Democratic organizations, the documents said.

The letter described the writer as a member of the campus Young Republicans who was complaining about alleged Socialist efforts to infiltrate the Young Democrats as well as the Young Republicans.

The letter was signed Paul MacAndrew which the FBI memo described as "a fictitious

They're Ready For Outer Space

WALDPOR, Ore. (AP) — Authorities here are investigating reports that about 20 persons have sold their property and left the area since a meeting last month with a man who claimed to be from outer space.

Sheriff detective Ron Sutton said Sunday he has received reports of one man selling his $5,000 fishing boat for five dollars and of a new van that was given away.

"One hippy is said to have given away his guitar," said Sutton. "To him, that meant everything."

About 300 persons attended the meeting Sept. 14 at a motel in this coastal hamlet of 800 people.

The manager of the Bayshore Inn, George Thompson, said he was paid $50 for the use of the meeting room, but knew little about the center.

"The guy didn't look like a Martian to me," Thompson said.

The message at the meeting, authorities said, was that something in the next 10 years, people from earth would be taken to another world and a better life. Before they went, they would have to sell their worldly goods and discard their personal relationships.

People at the meeting were told there was a camp in Colorado that would prepare them for departure in a UFO.

Mel Gibson of the Oregon State Police said one man gave away 150 acres, all his farm equipment and three children. The children and land were given to friends. Gibson said there is no evidence of fraud and that recipients of the items apparently have no relationship to the people who called the meeting.

Gibson said there was a second meeting held shortly after the first one for those who wanted more information. It was held in Eugene, Ore.

He said one woman, whose son had left, got a card with a Fruita, Colo., postmark saying:

"It's strange. It's God dang strange," Gibson said. "I've been around here for about 20 years, but I've never come across anything like this."

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

If The Government Doesn't Know, It Should

The most highly guarded secret in America is the truth about the nation's oil and gas production and the extent of known or potential reserves, charges Rep. Charles A. Vanik, (D-Ohio). Congress really doesn't know how much oil and gas is in the ground waiting to come out — when the price is right, he says.

"The great big government of America — which many would like to miniaturize — begs the oil and gas information from an industry-managed reporting facility. There are no penalties for false information, the suppression of truth or for under-reporting ...

"In this vacuum of information, the industry holds all the cards."

Well, if the government really is that much in the dark about the situation, it can't be for want of cards of its own.

According to an estimate in the Wall Street Journal, the mountains of information the government requires from the oil industry is costing the 20 largest companies — and ultimately, of course, the consumer — about $60 million a year. At an average cost of $100,000, that is enough to drill 600 wells.

Standard Oil of Indiana, for example, has 636 miles of computer tape storing the information it has had to supply to just one government agency, the Federal Energy Administration. It gives the FEA about 225,000 pages of data a year on its various operations. Phone calls to the capital have soared to 27,000 a year from only 1,300 five years ago, and employees take more than 600 trips a year to Washington.

All the other companies complain about the money and manpower they are pouring into paperwork. Exxon last year submitted a one-shot report to the FEA of 475,000 pages, which took 100 employees two months to prepare.

Union Oil says regulatory requirements cost it about $3 million a year. Shell Oil has 250 employees working part-time on government regulation chores and says that even if the FEA closed up today (which would put 3,200 bureaucrats on welfare), it would still have to file 389 reports with 44 other agencies, ranging in frequency from once a week to once a year and providing figures on exploration and production, marketing, sales, profits and other aspects of its business.

Nevertheless, Vanik's charge has been echoed in the other wing of the Capitol.

The big oil companies, operating as a club, are inhibiting production of oil until prices go higher, says Sen. Birch Bayh, (D-Ind.). He and three other senators have introduced legislation to break up the 22 largest companies. They cite an antitrust and monopoly subcommittee report which found that "virtually all Gulf Coast outer continental shelf production comes from a couple of dozen producers, with the integrated major companies having the lion's share."

Aside from the highly questionable possibility that breaking up the oil giants or demanding more information from them would result in more and cheaper oil and gas for Americans, the interesting thing is that no other basic industry in the United States has anything remotely approaching "a couple of dozen producers," let alone hundreds of smaller, independent producers.

In the automobile industry, to take perhaps the most contrasting example, there are only three major manufacturers, the largest of which accounts for more than half of all production. Yet no one suggests we would have cheaper cars by breaking up General Motors into a number of smaller companies — one to make engines, another to make bodies, another to assemble them and another to market the finished vehicle.

Frankly, we don't pretend to know how much oil and gas lurks beneath the nation's surface and continental shelves. But, with all the reporting expense being forced on the oil companies, if the government doesn't know, it has only itself to blame.

Neighboring Indiana's Sen. Bayh doesn't know any more about oil than we do. But he's learned that demagogic cries like "break up the big oil companies" satisfy the union bosses who elect him. He really doesn't care whether oil prices go up or not. He voted for the automatic salary escalator for Congressmen.

Shifting Balance Triggers Lebanon's Religious War

Ever wonder what's behind the outbreak of religious warfare in Lebanon? Why, all of a sudden have 2,000 Lebanese been killed and another 4,000 wounded?

Richard L. Worsnop, a researcher and columnist operating out of Washington on behalf of Congressional Quarterly, sums up the history and current situation succinctly.

Worsnop recalls that Lebanon once prided itself on being "the Switzerland of the Middle East." The Swiss population comprises three different language groups and is divided almost equally between Catholics and Protestants, but all of them live together harmoniously. Lebanon is an even more complex mixture, notes Worsnop, of Christian and Moslem sects, and they too lived together in peace.

Until recently, that is. Six months of sectarian violence has turned Lebanon into what Worsnop describes as "the Middle East's Ulster."

He foresees that the main casualty of the fighting may be the National Covenant of 1943, an unwritten agreement that laid the political foundations of modern Lebanon. The covenant provided that public offices shall be apportioned among the recognized religious groups with the three top positions distributed as follows: The president is to be a Maronite Christian; the prime minister, a Sunni Moslem; and the president of the Chamber of Deputies, a Shi'ite Moslem.

This arrangement, according to Worsnop, was workable as long as it reflected the relative strengths of the various religious sects. In recent years, however, the Moslems have replaced the Christians as Lebanon's dominant population group. But Christian leaders oppose any revision of the 1943 formula.

The lesson seems to be that how one looks, talks or worships counts for more than does allegiance to a common flag. It is much easier to preach tolerance — that most important civic virtue — than it is to practice it. The Swiss have learned how to do so — but then, they have had centuries of practice.

Sand Miner Says Land Use Laws Become Land Control

Editor.

Land use has become a major public issue during the past few years. This term is deceptive. Land use does not imply land shortage. In the nation, more than two-thirds of the people live on less than two percent of the total land area. The other one-third of the population is spread over sparsely settled rural areas. Much of the land is unoccupied. In contiguous United States, less than three percent of the land area is occupied by eighty five percent of the population.

Michigan has 38 million acres of land. Slightly more than four percent of this vast area is used for cities, towns and villages of 1,000 population or more. Land use, then, is not so much inadequate space as it is wise use of the land to serve the best public, as well as private, purposes.

Public Act 127, the Michigan Environmental Protection Act of 1970, is full of land use restrictions. Requirement of an environmental impact statement for any major construction of any type establishes strict land controls. A business firm planning to start a new business or expand an existing business is subjected to a complex series of examinations involving costly reports, application for endless permits, licenses and official approvals before being allowed to proceed with construction. In major projects, this can take several years.

After approvals are given, further delays can be anticipated if someone just thinks or imagines that some form of pollution may result from the eventual operation of the business. That occurs when use legislation would control just about everything except the bureaucrats who formulate the rules, regulations, policies and procedures. One of the essentials that free society has recognized, until recently, is the institution of private property. Private property is not a new institution. Its roots go back as far as human history itself. The questions raised by all of the clamor for stricter land use legislation is not the antiquity of the institution of private property but its utility. When property rights are protected, an individual is able to retain and enjoy the fruits of labor. This security is the main incentive for labor itself. If the State is free to seize this private property or, by direction, dictate its use by an infinite degree of control, there is no incentive to acquire it, improve it or utilize it. Private property becomes public property, without compensation, through excessive public controls.

Even the most extreme federal and state proposals for land use allow private ownership but show little respect for the right of private owners to utilize the land as desired. Government assumes the omnipotent role of making decisions on what the individual or corporate owner can or cannot do but assumes no responsibility for the investment in the land.

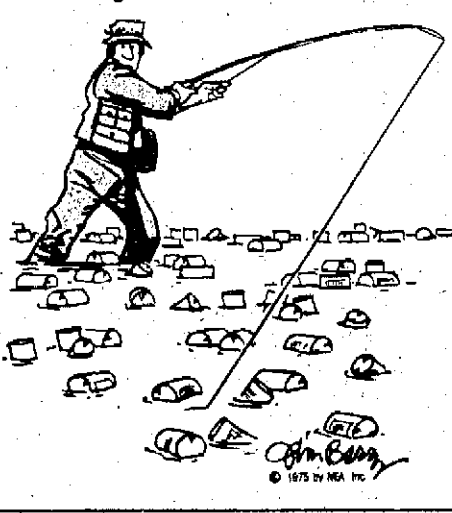

Civilized society rests on respect for property rights, or the institution of property. A free competitive enterprise system is impossible without security of property as well as security of life.

Granting the need for a positive public policy to assure orderly development of areas with the best utilization of land, excessive zeal for controls should not violate the economic and sociological factors that foster normal growth patterns and the whole concept of property rights.

In preparing guidelines for land use, the eco-extremists refractorily refuse to accept a balance between the economic, social and physical environmental concerns to meet local, state and national needs. The proponents of pre-civilization purity of the water and air, too frequently, view land use as

Running For One Office At A Time

WASHINGTON — To the best of anyone's knowledge Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has never been characterized as the leading Democratic candidate for president. This is because, according to polls, only about 2 per cent of the nation's Democrats want him in the office, and only about 15 per cent of everybody else even knows who he is. Indeed, after months of campaigning for nomination to the nation's highest office, it is said that on the stump the man still has difficulty getting a good table at Burger King.

So it is not surprising that, in recent weeks, Bentsen has quietly announced that in addition to the presidency he will also in 1976 seek reelection to the Senate. It is at least discreet for a man, unknown by 85 per cent of Americans to minimize his political risks. Besides, as Kin Hubbard once wrote, there seems to be an excess of everything except parking spaces in the Union, thus why shouldn't a man of the caliber of whatshisname seek more than one office at a time.

Lyndon Johnson did it, also in Texas. He, too, was a man dedicated to the notion the nation couldn't risk losing him in Washington, so he ran in 1960 for both the vice presidency and the Senate. And by doglegs, as they say in the panhandle, he won both. He did not serve in the dual capacity, of course, though surely the devoted wished he might. Strangely, he resigned from the more powerful post.

Other than Johnson and Bentsen, though, there have been no modern candidates this presumptuous. The history books are curiously silent about the dual candidacy condition. Even the normally precise research staff at the Library of Congress is unsure about the specifics of the matter, yet the consensus is that the Johnson-Bentsen thing is freakish. Johnson muscled a peremptory law through the Texas legislature, and Bentsen is taking advantage of it. In at least most other states dual candidacies are forbidden. Henry Jackson, as example, also a presidential candidate up for reelection in the senate next year, cannot by law appear more than once on his state's ballot.

Jackson, actually, says he would not run for both offices even if authorized, and claims to have squashed an earlier movement in Washington State to have ballot laws modified for his benefit. His heroics, however, are diminished by the fact that the Washington filing date for congressional office (August) comes after the Democratic nominating convention, thus if Jackson loses the party bid he still has time to file for the Senate.

Actually, the only presidential candidate of recent times choosing not to run for a full-back office was Barry Goldwater. He had enough influence in Arizona in 1960 to get a favorable dual candidacy law, but declined on the grounds of personal ethics.

Ethics perhaps is the core issue in instances of dual candidacies. The question is whether American voters should take the candidate serious who runs for this and that simultaneously.

Bentsen's dual candidacy confuses the sincerity of his national bid, and paralyzes those who would replace him in Texas. One man, one vote; one man, one office; one man, one candidacy; the best roll for the loser to play in America is that of trying again.

Bob Considine: The Superstar

NEW YORK — He never met a man who didn't like him. Honest, this fellow did Will Rogers one better.

Bob Considine, who was buried this week from St. Patrick's Cathedral, is the only man I ever knew well who lived up to his advance billings.

When I first began to work with him 16 years ago, he had already been a journalism superstar for some two decades. His voice was heard over radio every day. He wrote a popular column and had produced a dizzying succession of books, movie scripts, magazine articles and newspaper stories.

His pen (or, more precisely, his typewriter) was as clever and quick as his tongue. He had traveled all over the world and he had interviewed practically everybody who was anybody. He had a sense of humor that was the envy of all Manhattan.

He was, in the world of journalism, a legend in his own time.

And he was also as good a human being as he was a newspaper professional. That's the part that's hard to believe, if you didn't know him. His talent was spread out there for the world to see. But so often — my own impression is, most often — the most successful and celebrated in their field are not really very sensitive or kindly persons.

But the Bob Considine I knew was the exception — the rare combination of private goodness and professional greatness that comes along once in a while to inspire the rest of us.

He was generous with his time and his humor and his ideas. And, sometimes, his money. He was a gentleman of the old school, who never swore and remained faithful to his wife for 44 years. He loved people and living well and working hard and making it.

He could juggle 18 impossible things before breakfast without breathing hard. During President Kennedy's 1963 visit to Europe, he invited some of his colleagues to his hotel room for cocktails before dinner. We arrived to find him seated in front of three typewriters, in which there were a half-finished radio script, a half-finished column, and a half-finished news story. At his side was a huge martini.

He proceeded to play host between slips and, shifting from typewriter to typewriter, amusing us and completing all three of his tasks before dinner.

Insofar as I know, he never said a mean thing about anybody. He poked fun at everything, including himself, but he never wounded. The closest he came was a perfect parody of President Eisenhower not quite getting his syntax straight.

If all this makes him sound like Jack Armstrong, All-American Boy — well, that's the way he really was. He had more honors and more friends than almost anybody who hasn't been elected President of the United States, and he deserved them all. In spades.

Bob Considine was a great writing talent and a good friend, to myself and to thousands of others with whom he came in contact. Knowing him, I suspect he would prefer that I reverse those phrases.

Consider it done, my friend.

Fixing Meals A Challenge At Memorial

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

No one is going hungry at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, while its regular kitchen is being remodeled but dietary personnel have to fit meal preparation into a lot smaller space.

A temporary "kitchen" has been located on the sixth floor of the hospital in place of the regular kitchen and dishwashing room.

During approximately the next eight weeks, patients and employees will receive pre-cooked convenience foods on disposable dishes, Robert A. Bradburn, administrator, announced. He said the foods are purchased in the frozen or canned state and simply heated in one of three conventional home style ranges loaned to the hospital by Whirlpool Corp.

Much of the serving equipment was moved from the regular kitchen to the temporary setup. However, most of the cooking equipment, such as grills, ovens and steam kettles, are permanently installed in the regular kitchen which necessitated the use of pre-cooked foods.

Jack Saxton, food service director, said: "The convenience foods are just as nutritious and well balanced as those we prepare from scratch, but we regret having to temporarily curtail our home-style prepared and baked foods and pastries in which we have always taken pride."

Patients and employees are still offered a choice of entrees, vegetables, desserts and salads, although the menu is somewhat limited. The entire temporary system has been scrutinized and approved by the Michigan Department of Public Health. The temporary kitchen is in the solarium and an adjoining office.

Memorial hospital serves approximately a quarter of a million meals annually.

The kitchen remodeling is part of a $2 million improvement program that includes a new boiler plant, expansion of electrical generating, ventilation and air conditioning.

Snuff Blaze

St. Joseph firemen extinguished a fire in a mattress and bedding at Berrien county jail 6:01-6:44 p.m. Saturday and then used a smoke ejector to clear the area of smoke. Firemen said the fire apparently started from a carelessly discarded cigarette and was not deliberately set.

KITCHEN RENOVATION: Robert Hoge of Holland Construction Co., St. Joseph, tears out ceiling tile in dishwashing room of Memorial hospital. While kitchen is undergoing remodeling, as part of $2 million hospital improvement program, meals will be served on disposable dishes. Kitchen remodeling includes new exhaust ductwork and ceiling.

SALAD CORNER: Jack Saxton, food service director, and Willia Williams, dietary supervisor, prepare salad dishes. Entire Memorial hospital kitchen operations have been moved temporarily to the much smaller solarium and adjoining office on sixth floor. One elevator has been reserved as, express unit between coolers in basement and new kitchen setup. (Staff photos)

Car Runs Over Leg Of Mrs. Yerington

Mrs. Vern J. Yerington, wife of contractor John G. Yerington, escaped serious injury Saturday when the 1972 four-door Lincoln she had been driving ran over her ankle, St. Joseph police reported.

Mrs. Yerington had gotten out the car in St. Joseph to mail a letter, thinking she had applied the parking brake, police said. But the brake wasn't on and the car rolled away in reverse with Mrs. Yerington trying to open the door to stop it. She then fell and the left front wheel rolled over her ankle.

The car smashed into the front porch of the Edward Mosimann home, 1402 Niles avenue, porch, police said.

Mrs. Yerington said later there were no broken bones "just a little soreness in the ankle."

Police said she had stopped on Michigan avenue near the intersection of Niles when the car rolled across Niles.

Five Are Held In Mailbox Vandalism

PAW PAW — State police at Paw Paw said they took five Mattawan high school boys into custody yesterday in connection with the vandalism of a number of rural mail boxes over the past three weeks.

Troopers said the youths, all age 16, would be petitioned into Van Buren juvenile court on charges of malicious destruction of property.

In addition to the mail boxes, troopers said they are investigating whether the youths were involved in the vandalism of a parked car and a complaint of an auto driving across a lawn, both on Sept. 13 in rural Mattawan.

Rucinski joined the state police in 1956 and spent nine years as a trooper before being promoted to detective in the fire marshal division. A native of Stambaugh in the Upper Penin-

Berrien Legal Services Seeks 'Emergency' Grant

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The Berrien County Legal Services Bureau, Inc., has applied to Blossomland United Way (BUW) for a $15,000 "emergency" grant, according to Edward M. Yampolsky, legal aid director.

Yampolsky said in a letter to BUW the money is needed to pay secretarial help. He said federal funds of secretarial positions is scheduled to end next March.

"Therefore, at this time, it is necessary to seek emergency help or the legal services program will fall flat on its face about April 1, 1976," Yampolsky wrote.

Legal aid serves people who can't afford attorneys' fees. Yampolsky said the Berrien bureau serves some 1,000 people annually with about 50 per cent residents of Benton Harbor and Berrien township. He estimated some 60 per cent of the clients are from the greater Twin City area served by United Way.

Current federal funding is $54,366 annually for two full-time attorneys, a half-time lawyer and an office manager. "Our secretarial staff is composed entirely of CETA (federal Comprehensive Training ACT Act) personnel, and this program will come to an end about March, 1978," Yampolsky wrote.

He said no other sources of government funding are in sight. Yampolsky mentioned that legal aid has sought BUW funding four straight years and has been denied.

BUW is currently conducting a campaign to raise $730,000 to help support 38 agencies in 1976.

Gary Baker, BUW executive director, told The Herald-Palladium that legal aid has made previous appeals to join the list of BUW agencies but has not followed through with the filing of required formal papers and budgetary forms.

Baker explained the latest appeal will go before the BUW directors at their next meeting Oct. 20-30. He said the request could be referred to either the board's budget and allocation committee or more likely the Community Services Council.

Yampolsky added: "The Blossomland United Way is one of the largest, if not the largest, United Way program in Michigan that does not support any legal aid program."

He said lawyers of the Berrien Bar Association "in-kind" services.

Four Weekend Crashes Hurt 6 In North Berrien

Six people sustained apparently minor injuries in four traffic accidents investigated by Twin City area police over the weekend.

Benton Harbor police reported a car backed into a house, causing minor injuries to three children who were passengers in the car.

The accident occurred Saturday at 344 High street when a car driven by Lois Jean Sloan, 25, of 398 Miller street, attempted to pull away from a parking place. Police quoted the driver as saying she backed up, then mistakenly hit the gas pedal and the car smashed into the house. She was ticketed for improper backing.

Treated and released at Mercy hospital were Kathara Ogburn, 5; Royce Ogburn, 2, and Loron Wilburn, 2, all of 398 Pleasant street.

A St. Joseph motorcyclist sought his own treatment for apparently minor injuries sustained Sunday in a collision with a car at the intersection of Broad and Church streets, city police said.

Leroy Edward Patkowsky, 53, of 1815 Langley avenue, driver of the cycle, collided with a car driven by Stephen Lynn McIntosh, 21, of 912 Broad street, about 10 p.m. McIntosh was cited by police for failure to yield the right of way. He was not hurt.

A seven-year-old Benton township girl received minor injuries Sunday when she ran into the side of a car near her home on Madeline avenue, township police reported.

Andrea Jones, 131 Madeline, was treated for scrapes and bruises on the leg and released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor. Police identified the driver of the car as Paul Edward Garlanger, 34, of 2180 Bonnie drive, Stevensville. No tickets were issued in the 4:11 p.m. accident, police indicated.

Jeff Hutchins, 11, of 5160 DeField road, Coloma, was treated for bruises and released at Watervliet Community hospital Saturday after his bicycle collided with a car near his home. Berrien sheriff's officers reported the driver, Ruby Leo Atkins, 5547 DeField, said the bicycle turned into the side of her car. No tickets were issued.

Decorating Trends

BY MIKE IANNELLI

RELAXED FLUENCE is probably the mood and effect most homemakers strive for long for in furnishings. It is a result that can be achieved with many different decorative styles, from Mediterranean to modern.

Large pieces, with their strongly dominant lines, are, interestingly enough, relaxing and reassuring. With their massive proportions, they are often exceptionally comfortable and functional, which adds to the relaxed mood. Beautiful woods are also, both pleasant and inviting, as furniture craftsmen have known for centuries. Finely crafted details, so common in furnishings from French Provincial to hand-carved Mediterranean pieces, draw the eye and hold it, creating a restful effect. Psychologists tell us that sitting and looking at a beautiful object is an excellent way to relax and dissolve tensions.

Materials, too, can be elegant and at the same time invite you to sit down and make yourself comfortable. Soft velvets, which have returned to popularity, are just one example.

You'll find just the right furnishings to create that elegantly relaxed mood you want in your home when you inspect our new displays. Our trained home counselors can help you coordinate your needs, furnishings—and your budget!

Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Buttoning Down A Problem

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know how to tell you this because I don't want you to think we're a bunch of crazy kids, but seven of us (15 to 17 years of age) were sitting around last night comparing our belly buttons.

Four of the guys had belly buttons that were like recessed. One girl and two guys had belly buttons that stuck out. We all agreed the ones that stuck out were quite ugly. No one knew the reason for the difference and we were wondering if anything could be done to change a belly button once it was there. For example, the girl with the ugly one said she might want to be a belly dancer one day and considered her "imperfection" an occupational hazard.

Will you please give us some information on this subject? We looked in two dictionaries and could find out very little. — Students Of Anatomy

Dear Students: Things must be pretty dull in your crowd if you have to sit around comparing belly buttons. But people have been contemplating their navels for quite some time and since your questions sound like an honest search for information, I will try to enlighten you.

The belly button is what is left of the cord that linked you to your mother before you were born.

The prettiest ones are neatly rounded and slightly sunken. The protruding kind somehow did not close deeply enough, but no harm was done.

It is possible to have a surgeon beautifully navel if a person wants to go through the expense, time and trouble, but it's hardly worth it — even for an aspiring belly dancer.

Cruel Remark

Dear Ann Landers: My husband was first married when he and the girl were both 17. It lasted seven months and was then annulled. That was 12 years ago.

The other night, on his 29th birthday, we were celebrating in a cocktail lounge with five other couples. Out of the blue my husband made this statement: "I have never loved any woman in all my life the way I loved the little chick I first married. If she walked in here this minute and asked me to go with her, I would do it."

I was so shattered by that remark I couldn't help but dissolve into tears. My husband noticed and leaned toward me and said softly, "I love you very much, but there is something about a first love that never can be duplicated." He then added, "She is 2200 miles away and I'll never see her again so please don't cry."

His brother's wife tried to make me feel better by saying, "Forget it. He's on an ego trip." What do you think, Ann? — Glad

ANN LANDERS

She's In Texas

Dear Glad: Your husband's remark under any circumstances was brutal. After how many martinis did he come up with that beat? I suggest lemonade for your next anniversary celebration.

Try Ignorance

Dear Ann Landers: We are a middle-class American family with three children attending college. Our fourth child will be in college within two years, which means we will be working almost exclusively to educate our children. They've had summer jobs and saved their money since they were 16. They also work on campus. Two have partial scholarships, but still the transportation and extras keep us strapped.

Do you believe college tuition should be tax deductible? If you do, will you say so? — Mr. and Mrs. USA

Dear Mr. and Mrs.: I do indeed believe college tuition should be tax deductible and I have no hesitation about saying so. But if you think education is expensive — try ignorance.

a stool, I couldn't help but overhear their conversation.

"If it has no pattern repeat, you could get by with the 44-inch stuff and a quarter of a yard less. I made it last week in one evening." (I couldn't thread my needle in one evening.)

"There's a remnant over there I know Linda could get an entire pants suit out of."

"I'm not starting on anything until I finish the coat."

"If you can't get your size, get the next one and we'll alter the pattern."

Then a salesperson approached me. She wore braces and couldn't have been more than 12. "Could I help you with something?"

"Well, the truth is —

"You need something easy?"

Here's a pattern with only five pieces.

"That many?" I asked. "Actually, I was looking for something rather simple."

"Look, if you have any problems with gussets or facings or handling the new fabrics, just bring it in and I'll help you with it." (Gussets? I thought you made gravy out of 'em at Thanksgiving.)

"That's terribly sweet of you," I said. "For starters, I'll have three yards of this crepe, a yard and a half of silk, and some corduroy for bedspreads."

I watched this child with pure respect as she added a row of fractions and came up with a total.

Call it pride. I didn't have the heart to tell her I don't sew.

Jim: "We wrote up a variation of this hand a few years back. We had West make the Machiavellian play of the queen on the first diamond lead, whereupon South relaxed, went after what looked like a sure overtrick by putting up dummy's ace and wounded up in the soup when East showed out."

Oswald: "Everything happens in bridge so we are sure that someone, sometime, somewhere, has actually made this sort of play. We must confess that we can't document it."

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Nevada wants to know what we rebid after partner responds one spade to our one diamond opening. Our hand is:

♠ Q32♥ 94 ♦ A852 ♣ KQ7.

Our answer is that in spite of the minimum nature of our hand we raise our partner to two spades. A one notrump call with that worthless doubleton in hearts is very bad. The diamond suit really should not be rebid, so we take the least of the various evils. Bid two spades and hope for the best.

Jim: "We answered a question about the perfect safety play a few days ago. Now about some articles to illustrate."

Oswald: "Here is a classic. It has been appearing in this and other columns for years, but it is still a good one. South finds himself in six notrump and needs six diamond tricks to bring his contract in. The safety play is to lead a diamond and duck completely in dummy after West follows. This guards against finding all four diamonds in the West hand and, of course, there are no worries if

Youth Plan European Tour

Blue Lake Fine Arts camp, as part of its Bicentennial Celebration, will send 200 outstanding young Americans to Europe to perform all American music during the summer of 1976.

As a highlight of this Bicentennial Celebration in Europe, a special Festival Overture, commissioned by Blue Lake Fine Arts camp and composed by the well-known American composer Paul Whelan, will be presented July 4, 1976, at the world-famous concert hall, Die Glocke, Bremen, Germany. The site was chosen for this special event because of the long and close association between Blue Lake Fine Arts camp and the city of Bremen in West Germany.

In addition to Germany, the 1976 International band, choir and youth symphony orchestra will also visit communities in Holland, Luxembourg, France and Switzerland.

Blue Lake's International band will be directed by Gerald Bartlett, who is presently director of instrumental music at East Lansing high school, and has been a member of the faculty of Blue Lake Fine Arts camp for four years.

Director of the International choir will be Charles Canaan, director of vocal music at Zeeland high school and also a member of the camp faculty for four years.

The International youth symphony orchestra will be directed by Daniel Kovats, director of instrumental music at Grand Valley State colleges, director of the Grand Rapids Youth symphony and a member of the camp faculty for four years.

According to Gretchen Stansell, director of Blue Lake's international program, enrollment in all three 1976 groups is running far ahead of this time last year, and there are still a few openings. Rehearsals will begin Nov. 9 and will be held one Sunday morning each month during the year. One week of intensive rehearsals will be spent at the camp prior to the departure for Amsterdam June 14.

I was shocked to learn that a girl in my daughter's class had diphtheria. Fortunately, we have kept up her vaccinations. Don't you think that other mothers have an obligation not only to their children, but to the community as well, to keep up these inoculations and vaccinations?

Mrs. G.E. Wash.

Dear Mrs. E.:

You introduce an excellent thought when you speak of the responsibility to a community.

The primary violation of health rules is, of course, not to maintain active immunization of all children. It is a pathetic situation when a child dies or is permanently disabled because of the carelessness or indifference of his or her family to vaccination.

There has been a sharp decrease in the deaths from and complications of diphtheria in the past 50 years. Yet there are still outbreaks of diphtheria in the United States.

The only way that this disease can be permanently eradicated is to be sure that the levels of immunization are always maintained.

Earlier this year there was a severe outbreak of measles in St. Louis. This, despite the fact that the measles vaccine was found to be safe and effective since it was discovered about 15 years ago.

Health educational campaigns have urged that special months be set aside as "Immunization months."

It is rather naive to believe that people who are careless about immunization will be more tempted to use better judgment in one month than another.

"Immunization month" must be extended so that every month of the year should highlight the need.

Is there any danger in continuing to use anti-allergy pills after the season is over?

Miss F.L., N.Y.

Dear Miss L.:

If the allergy season is over and symptoms are no longer apparent, it is pointless to continue to use the drug.

No drug, for that matter, should be used indefinitely without periodic direction of the physician who prescribed them.

Antihistamines, or anti-allergy drugs, rarely produce any significant side effects. Yet many of them may cause drowsiness and reduce reflex action and coordination.

For these reasons, too, the drug should be stopped unless needed.

The Instant It Happened

THE ULTIMATE PROTEST

Like twisting a violin screw, tighter, tighter, President Ngo Dinh Diem's militantly Roman Catholic regime had brought the Buddhists of South Vietnam — 80 per cent of the divided country's populace — to the limit of their endurance. They demonstrated. Lines of monks and nuns chanted endless prayers in processions of protest from pagoda to pagoda. Diem pretended not to see. They raised their religious flag. Diem had it ripped down. When, at length, Diem's police waded into a Buddhist demonstration and left eight of their number dead, the last string snapped.

The Xa Loi pagoda is not one of the more important ones in Saigon and the solemn gathering there of 350 monks and nuns at 8 a.m. Tuesday, June 11, 1963, attracts little attention. A few lay women are there, dressed in white robes of mourning, weeping as they serve tea. This seems strange to Malcolm W. Browne, Associated Press correspondent, who also is there, for he knows of no recent death.

At 9 a.m., the mesmeric prayer chants cease. The monks and nuns, in ceremonial yellow robes, file out of the pagoda in silence, two by two, a pungent aroma of incense following them into the narrow streets. The procession winds slowly toward downtown Saigon, following a gray car in which five monks ride. This too, seems odd to Browne: none of the many previous processions had been led by a car.

At 9:17 a.m., the procession reached the intersection of Phan Dinh Phung and Le Van Duyet streets and halted. The monks and nuns form a circle. Three monks step from the auto, one of them an aged man, Quang Duc. A brown cushion is placed on the hot pavement and Quang Duc lowers himself to it wordlessly, without emotion, and pulls his feet over his thighs in the Buddhists' traditional cross-legged position. Quang Duc exchanges a few words with two younger assistants, bows his head slightly, and the two pour gasoline over him from a white plastic container. When Quang Duc's saffron robe is saturated the assistants step back. At 9:22 a.m., with an almost imperceptible motion, Quang Duc strikes a match.

Through the lens of Correspondent Browne's camera the flames of Quang Duc's self-immolation leap the seas, and horribly the world, and neither Diem nor the government, in Washington which supports him can pretend not to hear the wails of the old monk's mourners.

Israel 'Borrows' Trouble

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Government economists say a recent 10 per cent currency devaluation may have saved Israel from an imminent financial crisis, but they add that measures even more burdensome to the citizenry may be needed.

Israel's basic problem is that its bills are higher than its income, and it has had to borrow heavily to meet its expenses.

The problem is not new, however, since Israel has been operating at a deficit since its birth as a state in 1948.

But the high cost of the 1973 Middle East war — which Israel will be paying for over the next decade, according to Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz — plunged the country into its worst economic crisis in 20 years.

Israel's imports last year were worth $3.5 billion more than its exports, and the difficulty has been to find the extra cash to pay the difference, the economists say.

Most developing nations have a balance of payments deficit, "but not as high as ours," said Avigdor Steinberg, an economist with the Bank of Israel.

Before the 1973 war, Israel received enough "unilateral transfers, or money we didn't have to pay back," to cover the deficit, Steinberg added. The money came from voluntary contributions from Jews abroad, from Western German reparations for World War II and from long-term government and private loans.

Since the 1973 war, however, world inflation meant Israel's defense bills were higher while recession held back contributions, Steinberg said, and Israel had to pay its import-export deficit with its reserves of foreign currency.

According to the chairman of the Senate intelligence committee.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Sunday that "plans and attempts" against Castro's life "span the years from the Eisenhower administration through the Kennedy administration, and into the Johnson administration."

Appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Church also said, "We have no hard evidence that directly relates this activity to any order that was given by any president."

Church said the attempts against Castro had been confirmed by former CIA Director Richard M. Helms in secret testimony before the intelligence committee.

Although Church has made previous references to CIA plots and attempts against Castro's life, his remarks gave a much wider scope to the agency's involvement in assassination than previously reported.

CIA Director William E. Colby, in a separate appearance on the CBS program "Face the Nation," refused to discuss the allegations of CIA involvement in assassination, saying "the situation was very murky, and ... I really don't believe that this subject is an appropriate one for an official to be talking about."

News accounts of CIA attempts to kill Castro have centered on a 1961 plot in which underworld figures Sam Giancana and John Roselli were involved in a scheme to poison the Cuban leader in connection with the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion.

That scheme has been publicly admitted by both Robert Maheu, a former aide to Howard Hughes, and Lawrence Houston, former CIA general counsel who said he informed then-Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy about the plot in 1962. Maheu said he was a liaison between the CIA and the Mafia.

Other news accounts based on anonymous sources have described a variety of plots against Castro, all of them occurring during the Kennedy administration. Church's comments marked the first official indication of CIA attempts to kill Castro during the Eisenhower and Johnson administrations as well.

"Curiously enough, an assassination may not be illegal" under current law, Church said. "Nobody ever thought that it would be necessary to write a federal law against assassination," he said.

Van Buren Apple Parade Turnout Pleases Officials

BANGOR — Some 2,000 people turned out beneath sunny skies here Saturday to attend Van Buren Apple festival events and to watch the festival's first parade.

Following the parade, judges picked 17-year-old Sarah Jackson of Hartford as the 1975-76 Van Buren county apple queen. She was among six young women who have jobs in, or whose families are associated with, the apple growing or processing industry in the county.

Other contestants were first runner-up Janet Unrath and Ann Richmond, also of Hartford, April Read, Bangor, Margie Heuser, 17, Lawrence, and Leonda Kessinger, Decatur.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Bela Kennedy, wife of State Rep. Bela Kennedy of Bangor; Harvey Belter, Eau Claire, Berrien county extension agent; and Mrs. Donald Young, a former Miss Coloma queen, now of Watervliet.

The queen contest was sponsored by 13 businesses associated with the county's apple industry.

The parade, a first for the festival, included several floats, the Bangor high school band, members of the Van Buren sheriff's posse, a Bangor fire truck and several marching groups.

Festival and parade planners, encouraged by the response to the parade, said they hope to increase the number of parade units for next year's festival.

This Mrs. Ford Missed A Ride With President

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP) — Bettie Ford was on the curb when the President passed by this weekend, but she was more interested in a tall, slender boy playing a snare drum in the Tygart Valley High School marching band.

"That's my son," said Mrs. Ford, a resident of nearby Mill Creek, and no relation to the President, whose own Betty had stayed in Washington, D.C.

"I told the mayor of Elkins that if the President needs someone to ride with him, I'd do it," Mrs. Ford said with a laugh. "The next time the mayor saw me, he said, 'Hi, First Lady.'"

Six File For Gobles City Posts

GOBLES — Three incumbents and three challengers have filed petitions as candidates for election to the Gobles city commission.

Filing petitions by the 2 p.m. deadline Saturday were incumbent City Commissioners Anthony Koshar, Arthur Livock and Gary Serrell, according to City Clerk Mrs. Loretta Laughlin.

Also filing as candidates for the Nov. 4 city election were newcomers David Rumery, Steven Krueger and Richard Riksen, Mrs. Laughlin said.

Not seeking re-election is incumbent City Commissioner Loren Vreeman.

The clerk said the two candidates receiving the most votes in the election will serve four-year terms and the two receiving the next highest number of votes will serve three-year terms on the seven-member city commission.

Leap Proves Fatal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 17-year-old Lansing high school student died Saturday while in police custody after she jumped out of a moving ambulance which was taking her to a hospital, authorities said. Police said the dead girl, Maria Olivia Martinez, and her friend Diane Fenby, 17, were in custody after having been arrested Friday night by Eaton County deputies following a Waverly High School football game. Police said Miss Fenby was arrested for being under the influence of either liquor or drugs, and Miss Martinez was arrested for obstructing the officer attempting to make the arrest. Authorities said the two young women originally were handcuffed and put in a patrol car to be taken to jail. Miss Fenby worked loose from the handcuffs, unlocked a door and jumped from the moving car, deputies said.

An ambulance was called to take the woman to the hospital, and Miss Martinez jumped from the vehicle, which authorities said was going about 35 m.p.h.

Basque Violence Flares Anew In Spain

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gunmen attacked a Basque bar in northern Spain and machinegunned the owner to death in apparent retaliation for the spectacular bombing deaths of three civil guardsmen, officials said today.

Police said the incident occurred in a Bilbao industrial suburb a few hours after political terrorists, believed to be Basque guerrillas, killed the guardsmen by blasting their jeep with a remote control bomb, hurling the vehicle 60 feet in the air.

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro called a special cabinet meeting today to consider the rising violence, but a high official predicted the government would not "overreact" by declaring a state of emergency.

Police sources in Bilbao identified the latest victim as Ignacio Echave, brother of two Basque guerrillas in exile in France. They said a group of men armed with pistols and machine guns shot Echave to death in his bar late Sunday evening, then fled.

The attack was believed to be the work of an extreme right-wing group called Guerrillas of Christ the King, blamed for more than 80 attacks on Basque-owned businesses in retaliation for Basque separatist assassinations of police.

Saying the guerrillas were losing the struggle to bring down the 36-year-old regime, the official said the three new police killings Sunday in the troublesome northern Basque region would not provoke emergency measures.

"Three policemen were killed last week in Madrid," he told the Associated Press. "No emergency was declared then. There is a virtual state of war between the terrorists and the government. Retaliation by the terrorists is terrible but we expect it.

"They want to bring on a situation where violence is out of control on both sides," but the terrorists are losing ground and approaching a desperate situation because of the arrests of leaders, lack of funds and failure to gain real popular support among Spain's 35 million people, he added.

His Grave Is Already Filled; Which One Is The Real McCoy?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When James E. McCoy died of cancer last week, Belinda McCoy asked for the veteran's burial due her ex-Army husband. But federal authorities turned her down.

They said McCoy's death benefits were paid eight years ago. And McCoy's burial site in a national cemetery has already been used.

Army officials said a man buried in a military grave has the same name, Army serial number, social security number and dates of service as Mrs. McCoy's dead husband.

"There apparently is a body already buried somewhere," said Miami Beach detective Emory Zerick. "The question is, which one's the real McCoy?"

Mrs. McCoy has refused to comment about the situation. But her daughter, Kay Ruhland, said there is no doubt in her mind about the identity of the man who married her mother six years ago.

"He talked about the war (World War II). He said he hated it," she said. "And we met his mother and sisters and brother — all named McCoy."

McCoy, a 58-year-old apartment house maintenance engineer, died of cancer at Miami's Veterans Administration hospital.

KENNEDY SISTER FOUND: Police help Rosemary Kennedy, 56, of Jefferson, Wis., in white coat, into car behind Chicago police station Sunday in Chicago. Retarded sister of Senator Edward Kennedy was found walking on Michigan avenue four blocks from church where she attended mass with her sister, Eunice Shriver. Chicago television reporter found her five hours after she wandered away from church. Miss Kennedy was reunited with Mrs. Shriver at police station. (AP Wirephoto)

Detroit Hotel May Run Out Of Steam

DETROIT (AP) — A downtown hotel may be without steam service by tonight unless it makes some efforts to pay its bills to the Detroit Edison Co.

An Edison official said steam for the Detroit Heritage Hotel will be cut off and electrical service will be terminated a week from today unless the hotel owners make good on their debts to Detroit Edison.

Either action could force the Heritage to close its doors.

The 17-story hotel has been plagued recently by financial problems, including declining business and mounting debts.

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young and the hotel owners have been attempting to secure a $1 million dollar loan to keep the hotel going until 1977, when the city's hotel business is expected to improve with the completion of the Renaissance Center and new convention facilities.

Detroit Edison has threatened to cut off its service to the Heritage since last June because of the delinquent debts.

"We're still hoping that something will come up and we can still make some arrangements," an Edison official said.

"If a substantial amount of money is paid, we are positive we could still work out something with the hotel."

The hotel was formerly known as the Detroit Statler-Hilton.

SOON, SCIENTIST SAYS

Alewives For Supper?

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — It would be a rags to riches story: The runty alewife, a Great Lakes trash fish with few admirers except the trout that eat it, turned into a dinner-table delicacy.

The day is near, says University of Wisconsin-Extension food scientist David Stulber, when the charming hostess will approach her guests and ask if they might like an alewife hors d'oeuvre.

Nor will it be long before a quick supper could be alewife fish sticks or scrambled eggs and alewife sausage. And junior could one day be sent to school with a sandwich made of high-protein alewife bread.

Now little but an irritation to residents who plug their noses and rake up after huge die-offs along Great Lakes shores, alewives, says Stulber, "will end up supporting commercial fisheries in the future."

Because stocks of fish traditionally present in the Great Lakes and the oceans are being depleted by growing commercial pressure, America must turn for food to the fish it is now gathering up by the ton to be ground into cat food and fertilizer, Stulber says.

He believes alewives, carp, suckers, lampreys and burbot will grace dinner tables in the form of everything from fish salad to sausage, fish sticks and spaghetti.

By the year 2000, Stulber says, alewives will surpass such popular fish as perch, chubs, salmon and trout as Wisconsin's primary fishing industry.

"There is tremendous pressure," he said. "We're talking about a finite resource."

He cites the depletion of the chub population in Lake Michigan. Fishermen who took 1.8 million pounds of that fish last year may collect 90 per cent less in 1975.

By contrast, alewives are thriving, and Stulber estimates an annual available commercial harvest of 300 million pounds.

Eventually, instead of being shunned, alewives may be cultivated in aquaculture farms around the state and stocked in smaller lakes.

Specialized processing, where bones are removed and the fish meal ground like hamburger, makes the use of such fish possible, Stulber said.

He describes the alewife as tasting somewhat like a sardine with the same nutritional content, but softer because it's a fresh-water fish.

Stulber is adamant in his opinion that current table fish will have to be largely abandoned in favor of alewives and other presently undesirable fish.

Yank Monitors In Sinai Balloting Due This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is expected this week to approve the stationing of up to 200 American technicians to monitor the new Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire.

Among other issues on Capitol Hill, energy legislation is simmering on a back burner, while President Ford's veto of a $7.5-billion child-nutrition bill faces a congressional effort to override.

Both the Senate and House moved for floor votes Wednesday on the American monitors, which both Israel and Egypt requested as a condition to their Sept. 1 Sinai disengagement agreement.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled a public hearing today after making a unilateral decision Friday to remove the secrecy classification from four documents spelling out related U.S. assurances of aid and support to Israel and Egypt.

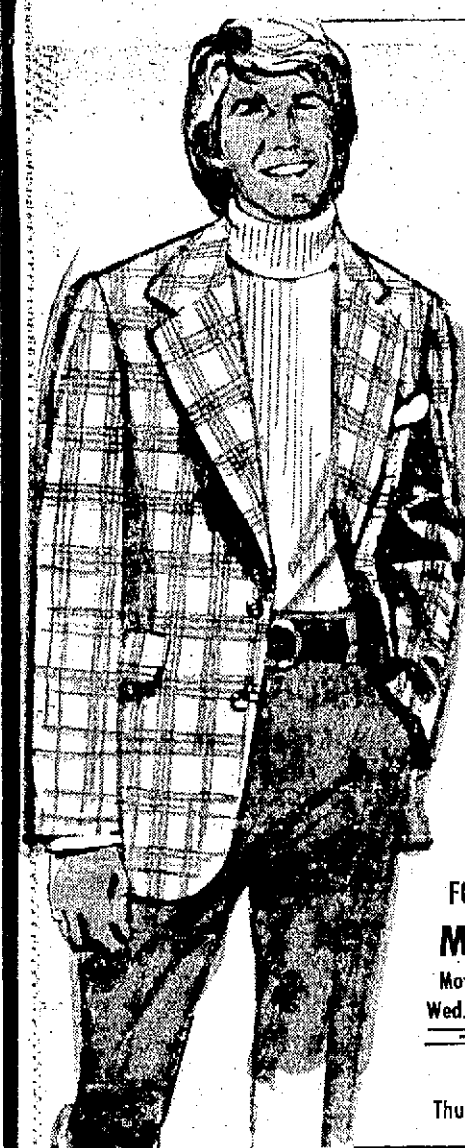

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who objected to the declassification as a jeopardy to confidential negotiations, is to be questioned in open session Tuesday. Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger is to follow to the witness table Tuesday afternoon.

The Senate committee may vote late Tuesday on the monitors, and it's expected affirmative action could clear the way for Senate floor debate and action Wednesday or Thursday.

The House, planning to recess Thursday night for a 10-day Columbus Day vacation, is expected to start debate Wednesday on the Sinai resolution, which was approved unanimously Friday by its International Relations Committee.

The House resolution requires that the Americans sent to the Sinai surveillance stations be civilian volunteers and that they be withdrawn immediately in the event of any new Israeli-Egyptian war. It specifies further that approval of the technicians "does not signify approval of the Congress of any other agreement."

The Senate continues debate today on legislation involving a battle over federal controls on the price of natural gas at the well.

Feud Firebombing Takes Five Lives

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Neighbors say a feud started by children playing in the street prompted the firebombing of a rowhouse in which five persons died, including a woman and three of her children.

One man was charged with murder, attempted murder and arson in connection with the attack Sunday. Another man was charged with a firebombing two weeks ago of the family's car.

"There's been feuding on this street for a long time," a neighbor said in stark explanation.

Killed were Ramona Santiago, 37; two daughters, Nancy, 14, and Roberta, 6; a son, Isradames, 13; and Luis Carricini, 14, a family friend spending the night.

A fourth child, Carlos Santiago, 11, was in critical condition at Crozier-Chester Burn Center with extensive burns. His father, Radames, 36, and a family friend, Nelson Garcia, 14, escaped serious injury. A fifth child, Leona, was away babysitting at the time.

Santiago, a security guard for a local hospital, reportedly left the city for New York with relatives who came to pick him up after the fire.

Neighbors said they had frequently quarreled with the Santiago family over petty matters.

They said trouble began several months ago in the neighborhood with disputes about the Santiago children playing in the streets. The disputes, they said, escalated into conflicts involving the parents.

One neighbor said police had been called several times to intervene.

Police charged Robert Wilkinson, 26, with five counts of murder, three counts of attempted murder and one each of arson, conspiracy and endangering the lives of others. He lives on the same block of North 4th Street in the city's Hunting Park section as the Santiago family.

Several hours later, David McGinnis, 18, was arrested on charges of firebombing the family car two weeks ago. Police said he was not charged with the house firebombing.

A witness told police a bottle was thrown through a first floor window about 3:30 a.m. The two-alarm fire, which damaged two adjoining houses, was under control within 30 minutes.

"We had our eyes glued to the upstairs, hoping somebody would jump," an unidentified onlooker said. "But there was nobody left."

The Pill Vs. IUD's

CHICAGO (AP) — The death rate associated with intrauterine contraceptive devices is lower than that associated with birth control pills, but more women who use the devices are hospitalized than women on the pill, the Journal of the American Medical Association reported today. Five women died and 7,862 were hospitalized because of problems associated with the device (IUD) during the first six months of 1973, according to a nationwide statistical sampling of doctors made by the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, the journal said. An estimated 3.2 million women in the United States and Puerto Rico were wearing IUDs at the time of the survey. Results of the survey were reported in two articles written for the Oct. 6 issue by Drs. Henry S. Kahn of Emory University school of medicine and Carl W. Tyler of the CDC.

Farm Drainage Is 'Good Investment'

By JIM KEEGSTRA
Associated Press Writer
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The importance of drainage in farm fields was emphasized dramatically by heavy rainfall in August and September, says a Michigan State University engineer.

Farm land in Southern Lower Michigan received 13 inches of rain, which caused considerable damage to some dry bean crops and moderate damage to corn and soybeans in low-lying fields, said Ernest Kidder, MSU agricultural engineering professor.

"In terms of today's market values, surface drainage construction costs are a good investment," Kidder said recently.

Excess water can be removed most simply by digging shallow, gently sloping ditches about eight feet wide, he said. Surface inlets to underground tile drainage systems also can be built.

"Although this summer's high moisture was unusual, potential crop loss due to excessive rainfall always exists in lowland areas," he said.

That "high moisture" broke state precipitation records kept since 1931, said Dale Linvill, MSU agricultural engineering assistant professor.

The most water was dumped on Mason, Lake, Newaygo and Muskegon counties along Lake Michigan, Linvill said Friday.

They received 400 to 500 per cent more rain than the normal 5.8 inches, he said.

The 13 inches this year broke a 1952 record of 10.9 inches, Linvill said.

"It started raining Aug. 21 and kept it up, almost continuously, for two weeks," he said. "The only thing we can say is that is simply shows the vagaries of weather."

In Northern Lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, rainfall was normal and sub-normal in August, Linvill said. The western U.P. received 1.2 inches to 2.1 inches, which is between 37 per cent to 67 per cent below normal, he said.

Kidder said the ditches he recommends are large enough to handle rainstorms which are so large they occur only once in about 10 years. The eight-to-10-foot wide trenches should slope about one foot in every 40 feet, he said.

They should be three feet deep or less in the center and have sides only slightly slanted, Kidder said. As an added benefit, the excavated dirt can be spread in adjacent low fields.

Surface inlets to buried tile drains should be placed in the lowest spot and be big enough to drain three-quarters of an inch of water every 24 hours, Kidder said.

The inlet must have a grating on it and should be ringed with a fence to screen debris which could plug it, he added.

Kidder warns that drains must comply with Michigan law.

"A landowner cannot increase water flow to a neighbor's land without permission," he said. "Even exiting a drain into a road ditch could be sticky."

And, drains connected to county drain systems must have prior approval of the county's drain commissioner, he said.

DETROIT (Dec. 5, 1948) — Eight residents of the City of Marshall have been fined $1,900, following a lengthy, emotion-packed trial here in U.S. Circuit court.

The case began almost a year ago when a group of Kentuckians led by Francis Troutman came to Marshall to return some escaped slaves to Kentucky.

The slaves, Adam Crosswhite and his family, escaped in Canada as a group of Marshall residents drove off the men from Kentucky.

Troutman and his group then pressed charges that resulted in today's verdict.

Troutman sees today's fine as a warning. "The actions of this mob amounted to theft of property," he said. Today's trial proves this. Now maybe citizens of non-slaveholding states will no longer aid fugitive slaves and conceal them from their rightful owners."

Charles T. Gorman, leader of the defendants, called today's decision shameful. "If accepted, it would force all free men to free states to aid slaveowners in this despicable practice, under penalty of severe fines," he said.

Gorman indicated Sen. Lewis Cass may have attempted to influence the jury in order to win southern support for his recent presidential bid.

Gorman said the Marshall residents will fight today's court decision. "Too many of us in the North are opposed to slavery to force us to support the activities of those in slave owning states," he said.

Zacariah Chandler of Detroit paid the fine for the defendants.

which he sold in 1961. Mr. Giaras was born June 16, 1890, in Verona, Tripoli, Greece. He was also the founder of the Order of Ahepa and a member of the Greek Orthodox church. In 1958, he built the Michigan Employment Security Commission office in St. Joseph which he leased to the state.

Surviving are his widow, the former Patche Voulpoulos; a daughter, Mrs. James (Joan) Lester, Benton Harbor; a son, George Giaras, Tamarac, Fla.; and a brother, Thomas Giaras, Chicago.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Greek Orthodox church, Benton Harbor. Graveside services will be held at 2:30 (EST) in Irving Park cemetery, Chicago.

A prayer service will be held at 8 this evening in Kerley and Starks funeral home, where friends may call.

Memorials may be made to the church fund or to the cardiac unit of Mercy hospital.

Missing Wallet Leads To Death Of Farm Worker

A Sodus township farm worker was clubbed to death Saturday in a fight over a wallet, and a co-worker was booked on an open charge of murder, according to Berrien sheriff's officers.

Dets. Gary Methling and David Sweet reported a 4-foot long 4-inch thick post was the weapon in the death of Russell Corney, 55, who lived on the Fred Lett farm, 5881 Hilldale road.

Corney was struck on the head and face, officers said.

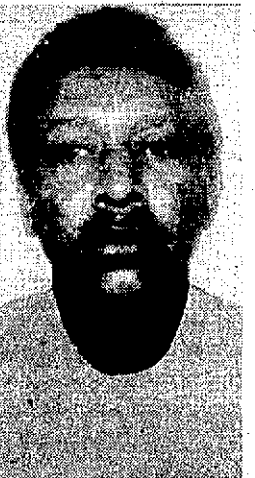

Arrested was James Edart Johnson, 54, also of 5881 Hilldale.

Officers said the fight occurred outside cabins on the farm when Johnson asked Corney if he knew where Johnson's wallet was. Corney then allegedly used a knife in an attempt to assault Johnson who retaliated in self-defense, according to information obtained by Methling and Sweet.

However, the detectives reported "facts and physical evidence suggested a different set of circumstances than stated by the suspect (Johnson)."

The officers said Johnson was booked after verbal authorization was obtained from Wilbur Schilling, assistant prosecutor.

Police were called to the farm name. In the Cleveland case the documents show that Cleveland FBI agents learned that an elementary school music teacher, hired on a probationary basis was married to Rod Holt, chairman of the Ohio campaign committee for the Socialist Workers Party's 1963 presidential candidate.

In a memo to FBI headquarters, the Cleveland office noted that neither Mrs. Holt nor her husband was connected with the Communist Party. "However, inasmuch as the SWP and the YSA are a form of communist organizations and since 'communist-orientated teachers are in such a critical position of influence, this matter is being submitted for the bureau's consideration,'" said the Cleveland FBI memo.

The Cleveland agents were authorized to alert the school board to Mrs. Holt's connection to the Socialist Workers "on a strictly confidential basis" in April 1965.

Four months later, the Cleveland FBI office told headquarters, "as a direct result of the foregoing, the Cleveland Board of Education definitely will not review (Mrs. Holt's) contract as a teacher in the Cleveland public school system."

The documents also contain memos written by FBI agents describing their efforts to interview 13 Socialist Workers members at various times in 1972 and 1973.

In four cases, according to the documents, the agents obtained the interviews under the pretext of inquiries concerning jury duty. In a fifth case, the pretext was a New York "lottery inquiry," the memo said.

MOTIVE: $125,000 PAYOFF Hoffa Grave Hunt A Hoax?

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Law enforcement sources believe a search for the body of ex-Teamsters President James R. Hoffa was a hoax perpetrated by a con artist who demanded money to pinpoint a burial site that does not exist.

The con artist demanded $75,000 to locate Hoffa's grave and later raised the price to $125,000, the sources said Sunday night.

Several unidentified persons agreed to pay the money, but it is not clear whether the money actually passed hands, the sources said.

The perpetrator of the hoax was identified by two law enforcement officials as an ex-convict from Los Angeles. Published reports previously identified the informant as Harry Hall of Los Angeles. But Hall, also known as Harry Haller, has flatly denied he was the tipster.

"My informantion is very solid that this whole thing is a hoax," said one law enforcement source. "This guy demanded $75,000 to find Hoffa's body, and a number of people agreed to pay it. The figure went up later to $125,000. I don't know whether the money has been paid. I suspect it has."

Another law enforcement source agreed with the money figures, and a third source agreed that the whole episode was a "flim-flam" but did not know how much money was involved.

The sources said they did not know whether Hoffa's son, James

P., agreed to pay part of the money for burial site information. The informant's story to Senate investigator William Gallinari was that the Mafia wants Hoffa's body found because the mob had nothing to do with his disappearance and wanted to bring an end to all the heat from federal authorities generated by Hoffa's disappearance.

"If the mob wanted Hoffa's body found they wouldn't leave any doubt," said one Michigan law enforcement official. "They would give street names, and the whole thing would be over with. This business about 'nine miles north and six miles west' is a lot of baloney."

Gallinari, who said he was in touch with the informant, has returned to Washington, but he insists it is no hoax.

"I know my informant," Gallinari told the Detroit News before leaving Michigan Saturday night. "He has produced for us before. This is no sham."

Gallinari works for the U.S. Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, whose Republican members said they should have been told sooner about the tip.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Illinois, reportedly said he was "outraged" at the way the subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Washington, had handled the tip.

Jackson provided the tipster's vague directions to the supposed Hoffa grave to Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who is Jackson's Michigan campaign manager for his fight to gain the Democratic presidential nomination.

A.A. Romeo Sr., Top Fundraiser, Dies At Age 76

Albert A. Romeo Sr., 76, owner of the Bluebird tavern and champion fundraiser for Berrien county March of Dimes, died at 8 p.m. Sunday in Mercy hospital after a long illness. Mr. Romeo promoted benefit dances for the March of Dimes 20 years at the Bluebird, raising some $8,000. The string of dances was broken last year when ill health prevented Mr. Romeo from staging the event.

He opened the Bluebird, 1304 Territorial road, Benton township, as a restaurant in 1923. When prohibition ended, he obtained a liquor license and it became known as Bluebird tavern.

Terrorists Urging Wave Of Kidnaping

Bailey said Miss Hearst's state of mind would be the most important element in her defense.

Hearst said a report that his daughter was being given anti-epileptic drugs was "a lot of baloney." And San Mateo County Sheriff John R. McDonald also denied the Long Island, N.Y., paper Newsday's story that Miss Hearst had been given 200 milligrams of Thorazine.

The Harrises, who were transferred from the San Mateo jail to Los Angeles on Sept. 25, are scheduled for arraignment Friday on an 11-count indictment stemming from a May 1974 robbery and kidnaping.

It is not known whether Miss Hearst, also named in the Los Angeles County grand jury indictment, will be tried with the Harrises, as the prosecution has indicated it wishes but the Los Angeles Times reported today that authorities there are hoping to persuade U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter to send Miss Hearst to Los Angeles for arraignment soon.

Meanwhile, the father of the man charged with harboring Miss Hearst and fugitive Wendy Yoshimura said this weekend that it was his tip to the FBI that led authorities to his son and then to the Hearst and Harris arrests.

Martin Soliah, of Palmdale, Calif., made his remarks in a taped interview with two California news organizations. He said he and his wife Elsie had met with Steven and their daughters Josephine and Kathy after the FBI asked him to try to locate them.

The Soliah sisters are among five persons being sought for questioning about SLA activities. The others are James Kilgore, who has been linked to an SLA bank robbery in Carmichael, Calif., last April; Bonnie Wilder, whose belongings reportedly were found in the Harris hideout, and Margaret Turcich, a friend and coworker of Kathy Soliah.

The elder Soliah, a high school teacher, said during the Aug. 29 meeting with his children that he urged them to work within the system and offered to open a business with them.

When he saw Steven at his arraignment on Sept. 29, Soliah said his son told him, "I wish I'd have listened to you, Dad."

Boston One Game From AL Flag After Beating A's

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, playing as if they invented baseball, are just one game from the American League pennant, ready to end the hopes of the mighty Oakland A's and owner Charles O. Finley for a fourth consecutive World Series championship.

The Red Sox, who laughed at pressure in ousting the Baltimore Orioles as East Division champs during the regular season, held a 2-0 lead over the A's in their best-of-five playoff for the pennant and a World Series berth.

The Red Sox, who whipped the A's 7-1 on Luis Tiant's three-hit pitching Saturday, completed a sweep of the two games in Boston with a 6-3 comeback victory Sunday.

Partisan fans serenaded Finley with "Goodbye, Charlie," and even the A's had to wonder what was hitting them. Now the A's are in a situation where they have to win three in a row as the series moves to Oakland for the third game Tuesday.

"It's do or die," Oakland Manager Alvin Dark said. "That's it. No refunds after Tuesday if we don't win."

"It still takes three to win this thing," Boston Manager Darrell

Johnson cautioned. "We'll just go out there and do what we have to do."

Dark and Johnson agreed that the Red Sox played virtually a perfect game in rallying to beat the A's in the second meeting. "Those fellows have done a great job," Dark said. "They just outplayed us today. They did everything you need to do in the game of baseball to win."

"We played a game of baseball as well as it can be played," Johnson said. "We played the game to perfection. It's not possible to play any better."

The Red Sox will send 19-game winner Rick Wise to the mound in the third game. However, Dark planned to wait until after a late afternoon workout after playing first virtually the entire season, played then Bahnsen, Dick Bosman, Ken Holtzman or possibly Vida Blue coming back." Dark said before flying to the West Coast.

Holtzman was knocked out in the seventh inning in the series opener. Blue was kayued in a three-run fourth Sunday as Boston tied the score 3-3. Bahnsen and Bosman each were 0-1 against the Red Sox this season.

The A's, who jumped to the lead on Reggie Jackson's two-run homer in the first inning, added another run in the fourth. Then Denny Doyle started Blue's downfall by popping a single to shallow right-center.

Carl Yastrzemski quickly brought Doyle home, hitting Blue's first pitch into the screen in left-center.

A double by Carlton Fisk and Fred Lynn's single shelled Blue, but the Red Sox got the tying

'Cool' Anderson Rallies Bengals

Eagles Upset Washington, 26-10

From Associated Press

Ken Anderson is what you might call your cool customer.

When Cincinnati's trailing, he's not a go-out-there-and-throw-the-bomb type of quarterback.

He's a sit-back-and-wait-because-this-game-isn't-over-yet-and-we'll-get-another-chance type.

With Houston leading 17-7 in the fourth period Sunday, he sat back and waited — and the Oilers eventually gave him the chance he needed to pass the Bengals to a 21-19 victory.

In Sunday's other National Football League games it was Philadelphia 26, Washington 10; Buffalo 38, Denver 14; Pittsburgh 42, Cleveland 6; the New York Jets 36, New England 7; Atlanta 14, New Orleans 7; Miami 31, Green Bay 7; San Francisco 20, Kansas City 3; Minnesota 28, Chicago 3; St. Louis 24, the New York Giants 14; Los Angeles 24, Baltimore 13, and Oakland 6, San Diego 0.

In tonight's television game it is Dallas at Detroit.

"The one thing we didn't want to do was panic. We were only down by 10 and you can come back from that," Anderson said after doing just that — keeping the Bengals unbeaten in three games and handing Houston its first defeat to put Cincinnati alone at the top of the American Conference's Central Division.

Billy Johnson was almost the whole show for Houston, amassing 199 yards in punt and kick returns.

Fred Willis scored on a one-yard plunge after Johnson's 12-yard kickoff return. Skip Butler kicked a 37-yard field goal after Johnson returned a punt 30 yards, then Johnson scored a touchdown on a weaving 63-yard punt return to give Houston a 17-7 third-quarter lead.

That's when Anderson went to work.

He had hit Lenvil Elliott with a first-quarter 10-yard touchdown pass to open the scoring. He cut Houston's edge to three points just 10 seconds into the fourth period with a 16-yard touchdown pass to running back Stan Fritts.

Then came the chance Anderson had been waiting for.

When Houston got the ball, quarterback Dan Pastorini fumbled it and Al Beauchamp recovered it at the Oilers' 41. That gave Anderson the chance to flip the winning TD pass, a six-yarder to Isaac Curtis.

Roman Gabriel's touchdown run of one yard and his scoring bombs of 62 yards to Harold Carmichael and 27 yards to Charlie Smith carried the previously winless Eagles to their upset victory over the previously unbeaten Redskins.

Middle linebacker Bill Bergey led a charged-up defense that recovered three Washington fumbles and intercepted three passes.

Buffalo's O.J. Simpson piled up 138 yards and scored a touchdown against Denver. That was no surprise. The surprise was that Jim Braxton also went over the 100-yard mark with 102 and scored three touchdowns on runs of three, 19 and four yards.

"We were bombed right out of our minds," Cleveland Coach Forrest Gregg growled. "Terry Bradshaw and Joe Gilliam did the bombing for Pittsburgh, combining for three touchdown passes in a 367-yard aerial assault against the winless Browns."

The Jets' Joe Namath threw four touchdown passes, two apiece to Rich Caster and Jerome Barkum. "It was one of those games you'd like to forget," observed cornerback Bob Howard, beaten on all four scoring passes.

New England quarterback Jim Plunkett suffered for the first time since suffering a preseason shoulder separation. He completed only eight of 21 passes for 135 yards and was intercepted three times.

The Falcons trimmed New Orleans on a fluke play when Jim Mitchell scooped up a fumbled pass completion by teammate Ken Burrow and raced 50 yards for a touchdown.

Mercury Morris ran for 125 yards, Don Nottingham added 107 yards and three touchdowns and Bob Griese teamed with rookie Fred Solomon on a 58-yard scoring pass to lead Miami over the Packers.

Quarterback Norm Snead passed to Tom Mitchell for one touchdown. Larry Schreiber ran for one and Steve Mike-Meyer kicked field goals of 19 and 29 yards to carry San Francisco past the Chiefs.

Terry Metcalf and Jim Otis teamed for 210 yards and scored a touchdown apiece in the St. Louis' victory over the Giants, who got both their touchdowns from Larry Watkins.

Fullback Lawrence McCutcheon booted 25 yards for one touchdown and James Harris passed 21 yards to Ron Jessie for another in a fourth-quarter rally that lifted the Rams past Baltimore.

George Blanda kicked field goals of 35 and 29 yards and the Raiders limited San Diego's entire offense to 83 yards — including minus 22 in passing — to beat the Chargers

Reds' Steals Stop Pirates

Cincinnati Needs One Win To Sweep NL Playoffs

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are within one game of a sweep in the National League playoffs, but Sparky Anderson said it was still nip-and-tuck in the pit of his ulcer-ridden stomach.

"They are very capable of annihilating us in three ball games," the Reds manager said after Cincinnati burned a trail around the basepaths and beat Pittsburgh 6-1 Sunday.

Nevertheless, the Reds dominated the Pirates in the first two games and the best-of-five series could end Tuesday night in Pittsburgh.

"We are capable of playing this game as well as any team can ever play," admitted the white-haired Anderson, who swills milk to appease his stomach lining.

Indeed, the Reds set a championship playoff record with seven stolen bases Sunday with a running display on synthetic turf that would have looked more at home on a cinder running track or a football field.

They've also limited the Pirates to a total of 13 hits in the first two games. Pittsburgh managed just five hits Sunday off Fred Norman and Rawly Eastwick.

"But we are also capable of being very shabby for three games, so I'll stay very low key," said Anderson.

Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh, whose only key is low key, was stone-faced after the lost weekend, which included an 8-3 setback Saturday.

"This is a five-game series. You don't win a five-game series in two games," Murtaugh reminded.

Tony Perez gave the Reds all the runs they needed Sunday when he stroked a first-inning pitch from Jim Rooker over the leftfield wall for a two-run homer.

The Reds added four more runs with the help of a running game that included three stolen bases by Ken Griffey, two by Dave Concepcion and one each by George Foster and Joe Morgan.

That total of seven surpassed the previous playoff record of four in one game, set by the New York Mets in 1969.

Morgan, who had three swipes on Saturday, set a record with four steals in one series. The Reds' two-game total of 10 is also a record.

Both managers absolved Pirates catcher Manny Sanguillen from total blame for the romp on the basepaths, which included a fourth-inning double swipe by Concepcion and Griffey.

"I am not perfect. Only Christ was perfect," Sanguillen said with a faint smile.

"Three or four times today, there was no way Manny had a chance," said Anderson.

Anderson also noted that the Reds were successful on a remarkable .823 percentage of their theft attempts in the regular season.

"The success we've had is no reflection on the Pirates. We did it against the whole league," he said.

Pittsburgh's only run came in the fourth when Willie Stargell doubled and scored on an infield out.

'Ol' Scrambler' Fran Too Much For Bears

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — It was almost a throwback to the early 60s.

While Chicago quarterback Gary Huff ran for his life, the "ol' scrambler," Fran Tarkenton, exhibited the skills he's gained from many years of experience to lead the unbeaten Minnesota Vikings to a 28-3 National Football Conference victory over Chicago Sunday.

"We've got all the ingredients of a top offensive football team," said Tarkenton, who hit on 19 of 30 passes for 250 yards and three touchdowns. "We've probably got more to work with than we've ever had here."

It was 14 years ago when the unrushing linemen. But his rookie Tarkenton ran desperately trying to free himself from play today is tempered, controlled and brilliant.

"He's thinking on his feet, not running for his life," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant about Tarkenton. "He doesn't have to wait until the next play, because he'll make the adjustment right during a play."

Meanwhile, Huff was ducking, dashing and desperately doing anything he could think of to escape Minnesota's vaunted front four rush. Just like a younger Tarkenton in many respects.

"Gary stood in there pretty good," said first-year Chicago

Coach Jack Pardee. "It's tough to throw when you get behind Minnesota."

Huff finished with a respectable 15 completions in 27 throws for 113 yards, but he couldn't rally the Bears' offense with any consistency.

"The key to success in this business is consistency," said Minnesota All-Pro tackle Alan Page. "We had that all day."

The Vikes have had it all season while rolling up 87 points in three games compared in 30 scored by their opponents.

Tarkenton took the Vikings on scoring drives of 83, 85 and 81 yards while the defense set up another early in the game.

"They've got everything going for them," added Pardee about Minnesota. "They're as good as they've ever been."

And at age 35, Tarkenton still manages to zip around with the quickness of a squirrel, which delighted the partisan Minnesota crowd with a fourth quarter dash the length of the playing field.

The animal triumphantly moved onto the field from the north end zone following Minnesota's final touchdown. With the outcome decided, game officials allowed the squirrel to make his entertaining trek to the end zone area on the south side of Metropolitan Stadium.

"We've seen plenty of squirrels around here over the years," laughed Grant, tongue-in-check, following the game.

LONG GAINER: Minnesota Vikings wide receiver John Gilliam (42) scampers for a 39-yard gain during first quarter action Sunday as Chicago Bear Craig Clemons gives chase and eventually makes the tackle. The Vikings dumped the Bears 28-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Ferrari, Lauda Win Watkins Glen Race

Blocking Brings Controversy

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)

After 28 years, Enzo Ferrari finally got the telephone call he had been waiting for.

"We have won," Ferrari team manager Luca Montezemolo told the aging car maker.

Montezemolo's excited, almost breathless call came just minutes after young Niki Lauda streaked to an easy victory in Sunday's Grand Prix of the United States.

The goal had eluded Ferrari since the inception of the American race, but the ultimate victory did not come without controversy.

Lauda's teammate, Clay Reggazoni, was black-flagged off the course for blocking the progress of eventual second-place finisher Emerson Fittipaldi.

The black flag, a rarity in Formula 1 racing, incensed young Montezemolo, who chased down race steward Berdie Martin and threw a punch. Martin later denied the fight took place, but the incident was recorded by photographers.

About the same time, Teddy Mayer, manager of Fittipaldi's McLaren team, caught up with Montezemolo and started a heated argument.

When race officials threatened to disqualify Reggazoni and drop him to last in the standings, Ferrari withdrew the car.

After Reggazoni made a pit stop for an undisclosed reason early in the race, Fittipaldi said the Swiss driver gradually got between him and Lauda, then began slowing down.

Fittipaldi said it would have been hard to catch the hard-charging Lauda, who this season took the World Driving Championship away from the Brazilian, even without the blocking tactics.

Lauda denied he knew anything about Reggazoni's efforts in his behalf.

Lauda's winning speed was 116.10 miles per hour through the almost accident-free 200-mile race at the 3.377-mile Watkins Glen road course. He finished 4.9 seconds in front of Fittipaldi, who also finished second in the season's driver standings.

Fittipaldi's teammate, Jochen Mass of West Germany, was a distant third, followed by James Hunt of England in a Hesketh, Sweden's Ronnie Peterson in a Lotus and Jody Scheckter of South Africa in a Tyrrell. The top six finishers in Formula 1 races earn points toward the title.

U.S. drivers again met with misfortune in the race, which has never been won by an American driver. Brett Linger, Wilmington, Del., was running in the top ten in his Hesketh until going off the course late in the race. Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., dropped out while running fifth in his Parnelli.

TAKES SAIL, LANDS HARD: Brett Linger's Formula One racer seems to launch after it hit the chicane protective curbing, top, at the U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen Sunday. At center, Linger starts to nose dive into the pavement and at the bottom the air scoop starts to dislodge as the cars hit hard. Linger, an American, was racing for Hesketh of England and was uninjured. World champion Niki Lauda won the event. (AP Wirephoto)

Miller Finally Tops Nicklaus

Beats Golden Bear By Five In Kaiser Open Win

NAPA, Calif. (AP)

It appeared Johnny Miller didn't have a care in the world. The weather was perfect — warm and sunny — and he was ahead in a tournament he won last year. It was only a matter of time before yet another Pro Golfers Association tournament victory was his, the 15th, for those of you who have lost count.

But underneath all that was a grim drive in Miller's heart, not only to win but to beat Jack Nicklaus — or just finish ahead of the man he has chased since Sept. 15, 1974.

"I was gonna beat him this time, no matter what he did," Miller observed Sunday after cruising to the second $175,000 Kaiser Open crown of his brief career, leaving Nicklaus five strokes back in sixth place.

"I really wanted this one. I really wanted to win here. If I'd let this one slip away, I think it would have left some scar tissue," he said after collecting the $35,000 winner's check with a final-round 69 and a 16-under-par total of 272.

The front-running three-stroke triumph came with relative ease. It was his fourth victory this season but the first in eight long months since he won three of his first four this year.

"It's not that it's been so long since I won, eight months or whatever. But with the regularity I was winning before, it seems like a long time," he said.

The outcome never was really in question, considering the determination Miller showed in outclassing the field. Rod Curl needed his best tournament showing this season, a 71, to finish second at 275 on the 6,828-yard north course at the Silverado Country Club.

Lee Trevino, who earlier offered Miller his most serious challenge, finished tied for third with Gene Littler and Marty Fleckman.

Trevino birdied the eighth and ninth holes to move within a stroke of the lead, but hacked a double-bogey 6 on the 13th and fell out of contention.

All that remained was for Miller to top Nicklaus, who in their 12 meetings since last September had finished ahead of Miller nine times and tied him for position the other three.

It was a battle won easily when Nicklaus ran into some rare putting problems. "I didn't make the putts and I didn't put any pressure on him," said Nicklaus.

But Jack continued his one-upmanship on Miller in another department: money. He had clinched the money-winning crown before the event began and his $6,300 for the sixth-place finish put Nicklaus' final earnings at $298,149. Miller's check gave him $226,118 for second place on the list.

Roadrunners Easy Victors

NAPIERVILLE, Ill. — Southwestern Michigan College took six of the first nine places while winning the team championship for the third straight year here at the North Central Invitational Saturday.

SMC finished with 23 points while host North Central College was a distant second with 54. There were 12 schools in the meet, including nine four-year colleges.

Dave Casillas of St. Francis (Ill.) won the five-mile race in 24:31. Joe Ofsansky and John Reedy of SMC were second and third in 24:50 and 24:59, respectively.

Other high Roadrunner finishers were Tom Elspersmann in fifth, Arnie Jackson sixth, Dennis Cordell seventh and Steve Bunn ninth.

Elspersmann, who hails from St. Joseph, and Bunn, who comes from Hartford, both turned in their best efforts of the season.

Kiewel's Two TD Jaunts Pace Raiders

Dennis Kiewel scored two touchdowns to lead the Raiders to a 21-12 win over the fighting Irish in YMCA Flag Football action Saturday.

Kiewel scored on runs of 39 and 65 yards to lead his team to the victory. David Hagenauer added a third TD for the winners. Rusty Cutler and Chris Cook scored once each for the fighting Irish.

In other games, the Steelers edged the Dolphins 12-6 at Fairplain high school. At Coloma the Dolphins rolled past the Rockets 19-6 and the Spartans nipped the Huskies 19-12. The Vikings got by the Rams 20-18 and the Jets beat the Blazers 25-19 at Hayes Park in Watervliet.

Andrea Coleman and Chris Jackson scored once each in the Steelers win. Ricky Schuler's 35-yard TD run was the Dolphins' only score.

Dennis Kiewel scored a pair of touchdowns, one on a 70-yard run, in the Dolphins win at Coloma. Jeff Rice ran it in from 30 yards out for the winners' third score. Joe Bates and Mark Harper tallied touchdowns for the losers.

Frank Scoma, Geoff Lawton and Dana Rose scored one TD apiece in the Vikings win over the Rams at Watervliet. Mike Griffin, Rob Sprague and Mike Shaw tallied for the losers. Frank Scoma's two extra points proved to be the difference.

Scott Radde scored three times, one a 63-yard jaunt, and Danny Duffield added a 60-yard TD run in the Jets win. Chris Haase scored twice and Bryan Loggin once for the Blazers.

Lakers Pace High Scoring

Grand Valley 68-6 Winner, NMU Cops Fifth

From Associated Press

High-scoring games dominated the scene as five schools piled up more than 30 points each in Michigan small college football action this weekend.

Grand Valley State set the pace Saturday with a 68-6 victory over Northeastern Illinois. Michigan Tech followed close behind, rolling over Bemidji, 55-8.

Wayne State pounded Valparaiso, Ind., 35-14; Hillsdale whipped St. Norbert, Wis., 31-23; and Saginaw Valley edged Ferris State, 31-28.

In other games, Northern Michigan blanked Youngstown State, 15-0; and Adrian took Geneva, Pa., 13-7.

Northwood Institute squeaked by Central State, Ohio, 14-13; Alma defeated Albion, 17-10; Hope dumped Olivet, 18-6; and Kalamazoo beat Illinois Benedictine, 24-14.

Tailback Chris Lehmann scored four touchdowns and fullback Jamie Hostford added a pair of TDs to lead Grand Valley to their 62-point non-conference victory over Northeastern Illinois. The Lakers, 4-1 for the season, built up a 40-0 lead at halftime as five different backs got into the scoring action.

Michigan Tech piled up 401 yards in total offense enroute to its Northern Intercollegiate Conference victory over Bemidji. Jim Van Wagner led the scoring for the Huskies with four touchdowns, including a 92-yard kickoff return. Michigan Tech upped its record to 41 and 2-1 in conference play, while Bemidji fell to 1-3 overall and 1-2 in the conference.

Quarterback Ed Skowneski ran for three touchdowns and passed for two more in a record-setting performance that paced Wayne State to its non-conference victory over Valparaiso. Skowneski ran for 203 yards, upping his career total to 2,023 and setting a new Tartan record. Wayne State stands 3-2 for the season, while Valparaiso dropped to 2-2.

Fullback Joe McFarland scampered for a pair of touchdowns as Hillsdale chalked up its fourth victory in five starts with a non-conference triumph over St. Norbert, 2-2.

John and Bill Waters, sons of Saginaw Valley Coach Frank "Muddy" Waters, accounted for all four of the Cardinals' touchdowns in their Great Lakes Conference victory over Ferris State. Ferris State's Charley Evans rumbled for two touchdowns and rushed for 286 yards, setting a school and conference record. Saginaw Valley stands 3-1 overall and 1-0 in the league, while Ferris is 0-5 and 0-2.

Eighth-ranked Northern Michigan chalked up its fifth straight victory without a loss by defeating Youngstown in non-conference play. Brian Adams started off the Wildcats scoring by recovering his own team's fumble in the end zone in the opening minutes of play. Youngstown is now 2-2 for the season.

Halfback Derrick Diggs gained 188 yards in 18 carries, including one touchdown, and freshman quarterback Matt Treals scored the winning TD to pace Adrian to a non-conference victory over Winless Geneva.

A fourth quarter touchdown by Nate Porter and an extra point kick by Kevin Porter gave Northwood, 2-3 for the season, a narrow victory over Central State, 1-4. The difference turned out to be Rodney Dunson's missed extra point following a Central State touchdown in the third period.

Quarterback Ken Riehl

passed for one touchdown and Greg Marsh added a second after recovering a blocked punt as Alma, 2-2, handed Albion, 3-1, its first defeat of the season in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association opener for both teams.

Hope remained undefeated, winning its fourth straight game in its MIAA opener with Olivet. Kevin Clark and Tim Van Heist each scored a touchdown and Jim Miller booted two field goals for Hope. Alma is now 2-3 for the season.

Fullback Kevin Moody scored two touchdowns and ran for 139 yards in 30 carries as Kalamazoo posted its third victory with a non-conference win over Illinois Benedictine.

Lions Battle Archie

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Archie Bunker, move over. You are about to meet the Detroit Lions.

The Lions will battle it out tonight against Archie and Edith of CBS television's "All in the Family" — the top audience-attractor — when they meet the Dallas Cowboys on ABC-TV.

Both the Bunkers and the ball game start at 8 p.m. Detroit time. If the Lions can grab viewers away from Archie, they face another battle at 9:30 when CBS carries "Maude."

The Nielsen ratings show televised football carried 31 per cent of the national market on Monday nights last year. CBS' shuffle of its Monday night lineup to include "All in the Family" may change that — or at least cause some heated discussions in living rooms around the country.

It will be the debut of Lions action in the new Pontiac Stadium. Coach Rick Forzano says he isn't worried about the competition.

"With the national TV and the beautiful new stadium, it's the greatest thrill I can imagine," Forzano said. "Our team will be high for this one without us even saying anything to them."

Lanier Scores In Chip Rout

N. Illinois Leads MAC

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)

Mid-American Conference newcomer Northern Illinois is alone in first place in the conference football standings, and Coach Jerry Ippoliti believes his team has a shot at the title.

"I think we're a contender right now," Ippoliti said after the Huskies thrashed Kent State 38-15 Saturday.

"When you play two Mid-American teams back-to-back and win them both, you have to feel this way," he said. Northern beat Western Michigan 20-0 the previous week.

"It's a tremendous feeling to compete the first year and be in contention," Ippoliti said.

"One reason I'm elated is that I'm a great admirer of the Mid-American Conference. Being an Ohio native myself and playing at Miami, I know how good this conference is."

Northern Illinois, now 2-0 in the MAC, moved out of a tie with Miami for the top spot. The Redskins remained 1-0 in the conference while they were beating nonleague opponent Purdue 14-3.

Bowling Green climbed alongside Miami in second place by blanking Western Michigan 28-0 in the only other conference game Saturday.

Ohio University was a 21-0 victim of Minnesota, Toledo fell to Dayton 24-13, Ball State edged Indiana State 20-16 and Central Michigan whipped Illinois State 42-7.

The Northern Illinois attack was led by quarterback Jerry Golsteyn, who passed for two touchdowns and ran for another. His passing was complemented by the running of halfback Vince Smith, who picked up 97 yards in 16 carries.

Bowling Green handed the Broncos their fourth shutout of the season as running back Marcus Johnson, filling in for the injured Dave Breton, rushed 20 times for 102 yards and scored one touchdown.

Miami took advantage of seven Purdue fumbles in upending the Big Ten team. The Redskins' two touchdowns were scored by fullback Tom Zwayer and fullback Rob Carpenter.

Minnesota's relentless defense held Ohio University scoreless while the offense combined two touchdowns, a two-point conversion and two field goals.

Tailback Kevin Conley scampered for 111 yards in 16 attempts to lead Dayton over Toledo.

Ball State charged back from a 16-7 halftime deficit in defeating Indiana State. Earl Taylor scored two touchdowns in the game and Jim Nedeff booted two field goals.

Central Michigan overpowered Illinois State with a fierce running attack led by Wali Hodges, who picked up 107 yards on 20 carries and scored two touchdowns.

Taylor Lanier of Eau Claire scored his first touchdown in a Chip uniform. With 34 seconds left, he scampered around right end, breaking three tackles, and scored from the six-yard line. He ended with two carries for 10 yards.

Huge Michigan Grid Crowd Forces Scouts Into Aisles

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)

For some 5,000 Cub Scouts the game was more like musical chairs than football at this weekend's Michigan-Missouri clash at Michigan Stadium.

Crossed signals between the University of Michigan athletic department and the ticket printer resulted in the Cub Scouts being ousted from their complimentary seats Saturday by fans who had paid $7 each for the same seats, university officials said.

As 104,578 spectators, the third largest crowd in Michigan football history, jammed the stadium, the Cub Scouts found themselves sitting in the aisles or leaving the stadium without even seeing the game.

"Every year we pick a game to hopefully give the Cub Scouts the chance to visit the stadium, see the team, and perhaps give them an interest in becoming members," said Allan Renfrew, the U-M ticket manager.

"The game we decided on this year was with Northwestern. The printer makes up the tickets, however, and provides them directly to the scout leaders in the area," he said.

"The printer got mixed up on the date of the game. There was nothing we could do... it was a shame, but when we found out about it, it was too late. I was flabbergasted."

"I didn't realize until 12:30 — an hour before game time — when the kids already were in the stadium, what was happening."

But not everyone was happy with the university's explanation. Robert Di Giovanni, Cubmaster of Ann Arbor Pack 101, said he understood the 7,000 tickets originally committed to Scouts of the Wolverine Council were sold.

"If what I've been told is true," he said, "then it was a case of greed winning out over over community service."

Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham was a "super-salesman," Di Giovanni said. "As soon as Missouri beat Alabama and had a national rating, he saw that he had 7,000 more seats he could sell instead of giving them away free to the Scouts," the Cubmaster said.

"It's pretty tough to convince an 8-year-old kid, who was told a month ago that he was going to see Michigan play, that he could not sit in a seat for which he has a ticket," Di Giovanni said.

Renfrew said the university still was considering providing tickets for the Northwestern game, which will be played in two weeks.

"We certainly want to compensate for some of the damage done," he said. "This was certainly a mistake on my part for not checking into it further."

Slush Funds, Official Subsidies Abound

European 'Amateurs' Get Big Money

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Top amateur athletes in western Europe are dipping into official subsidies and under-the-table slush funds to finance full-time training for the 1976 Olympics. European sports sources report.

Although amateur rules forbid secret cash incentives for Olympic competitors, an Associated Press survey of eight countries shows that many stars can earn at least $20,000 a year from their sport and still retain amateur status.

All western European countries subsidize medal candidates with cash payments, usually several hundred dollars a month, for food, medical treatment, travel, "lost income" and other proveable expenses while training for the games.

West Germany's Sports Aid Endowment Fund distributes 12 million marks — $4.8 million — annually to some 2,000 "needy" Olympic hopefuls, plus another three million marks — $1.1 million — to finance specialized training for 350 athletes selected for the 1976 Olympic team.

Italian medal candidates in swimming and running, premier events at the Summer Games in Montreal, are getting up to 300,000 lire — $500 dollars a month — in sanctioned subsidies, sources in Rome report.

But proven winners can triple this income from payoffs by their business-backed sports clubs.

Austria, hosting the 1976 Winter Games in Innsbruck, hands out generous subsidies to its star alpine skiers. They collect as much as 450,000 shillings — $22,500 — a year from the national ski pool funded by equipment manufacturers, plus $1,200 or more for winning international races, informants in Vienna said.

Olympic candidates in Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, France and Britain are also getting "bread-and-butter" subsidies and free equipment funneled through national sports federations. But there, as elsewhere, most amateur stars also have "ghost" incomes from commercial ties with manufacturers or liberal contracts with sports clubs.

"There are really no amateur athletes anymore. Everyone has a thing going," declared a knowledgeable Frenchman, echoing the recent confession of U.S. distance running star, Frank Shorter.

Shorter, in his appearance Sept. 9 before a Presidential panel investigating international amateurism, said he realizes about $200 a month from running, "about one-tenth of what foreign competitors get."

Shorter and other Americans athletes are urging U.S. Olympic officials to modify amateur rules on subsidies to give U.S. sportsmen a better chance in international events.

Even Lord Killanin, chief of the International Olympic Committee, has advocated a more realistic stance on payments for amateurs.

JOINT FINISH: Joe Palazzolo (left) and Tim Dine join hands in hopes of crossing the finish line together in the Berrien County Cross Country Meet Saturday at River Valley high school. The officials ruled that Dine's shoulder crossed the finish line first, however. The two were both clocked in a record time of 16:20. (Staff photo).

SW Louisiana Cuts Down Injuries With Kung Fu

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — There have been no major football injuries at the University of Southwestern Louisiana since a slender Kung Fu teacher instituted a series of Oriental stretching exercises last spring.

"We've had two minor ankle sprains. That's all we've had since spring training started. No knee injuries, no major pulled muscles," said trainer Jim Pittman.

"Since the ankle sprains, we've added a new series of exercises to eliminate them, too," said Coach Augie Tam-mariello.

"I used to get tension headaches, and he even showed me an exercise that stopped those," said a member of the USL athletic staff.

The revolutionary training program came as a surprise to both Tammariello and Young.

"We got an anonymous letter one day last year," Tammariello said. "It only said that there was someone on our campus who could help us. It was a real strange letter — no name or anything."

"Some of the players knew about Steve, and they told me about him. We went out and got him."

"Coach called me one night, and I was there the next day," Young said.

He said he talked with the coaches about what he had to offer, demonstrated some of the exercises and got permission to start teaching some of the players.

"Most of the players backed off right at first. They took it as a joke," he said. "It started as a volunteer thing, but those in the program got so much confidence and felt so much better that others got interested."

The stretching exercises now precede every practice session and every game. Some of them are the traditional touch-toes and situps. Others are compromise modifications — blends of the Oriental and common football exercises.

Some have never been seen on a football field before and invariably occasion laughter from those not familiar with the routines.

Neither Pittman nor Tammariello would give all the credit for the absence of serious injuries to the new exercise program.

"We didn't keep any statistics on injuries in the past," Pittman said. "I can't say for sure that it was the exercises that reduced our injuries. We haven't been at it long enough."

"We just don't know," Tammariello said. "But we're not going to stop them."

Career Clips

Pat Tobin of St. Joseph finished with his best time on the South Dakota State cross country course Sept. 29. His clocking of 25:53 was good for eighth place in the meet. It wasn't good enough to keep the Jackrabbits from losing to the University of South Dakota (28:29) for the first time in 19 years.

Dave Furst of Niles Brandywine is presently a member of the University of Michigan cross country team.

Southmen's White Plays Like Vet

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Danny White is only in his second year of pro ball, but the young quarterback of the Memphis Southmen handles pressure like a veteran.

With his team fell behind 33-30 to the Southern California Sun with 1:45 to go in Sunday's game, White took command. He guided the Southmen the length of the field, overcoming a pair of penalties and finally hitting wide receiver Ed Marshall with a 17-yard pass with 32 seconds left to give the Southmen a 37-33 triumph and the World Football League's Eastern Division summer season championship.

"At a time like that," said White, who played college ball at Arizona State, "the No. 1 thing to do is stay cool. I reminded myself right that that there was plenty of time left, and there were things I wanted to do at that point."

He mentioned setting up a possible tying field goal, or perhaps getting close enough to try for a touchdown with a "medium-range pass." And that's precisely what he did.

The victory gave Memphis a 7-2 record in the Eastern Division, enough to edge out Birmingham and Jacksonville. By winning the summer season, Memphis is assured of a spot in the World Bowl playoffs.

In Sunday's other WFL game, Charlotte topped Shreveport 39-14. In Saturday action, it was Jacksonville 32, Portland 29; Philadelphia 42, San Antonio 38, and Birmingham 29, the Hawaiians 16.

San Antonio had previously clinched the Western Division title.

The Southmen were forced to come from behind twice against the stubborn Sun.

White completed 13 of 24 pass attempts for 177 yards and three touchdowns to offset the play of Sun rookie Anthony Davis, who ran for two touchdowns and caught a Mike Ernst pass for another before leaving the game with an ankle injury in the third quarter.

The Sun crased a 15-0 deficit on Davis' trio of scores — runs of two and 30 yards and an 11-yard reception. Memphis regained the lead at 30-26 when White hit Marshall on a five-yard scoring pass and John Harvey scored on a one-yard run. Ernst connected with Terry Lindsey for a 22-yard score to give the Sun a 33-30 margin with 1:45 left on the clock, setting up White's winning aerial.

Tom Sherman completed 17 of 20 passes for 154 yards and two touchdowns, both to Tim George, as Charlotte rolled to its biggest point total of the season.

George Mira hit Alfred Haywood with a screen pass and the running back rambled 37 yards for the winning touchdown with six minutes to play for Jacksonville. Mira completed just five passes in the game, but two went to Haywood for TDs.

Claude Watts carried 15 times for 115 yards and three touchdowns for Philadelphia, but the winning points came on field goals of 43 and 47 yards by Bob Cooper in the fourth period.

Two touchdowns in the second half by Art Cantrelle and one by Johnny Musso carried Birmingham over the Hawaiians.

Smith Brothers Still Helping Each Other

HOUSTON (AP) — Since their childhood days in Beaumont, Tex., brothers Bubba and Tody Smith always have rushed to help each other when one needed a lift.

When Tody was discouraged and wanted to quit pro football while with the Dallas Cowboys, Bubba flew in and talked him out of it. Two weeks ago when Bubba was cut by the Oakland Raiders, Tody was there to boost his older brother's morale.

They've shared pain and joy willingly because of their strong bond as brothers, but one of their biggest celebrations came last week when Bubba signed a Houston Oilers contract, making the brothers teammates for the first time in their football careers.

"I'm ecstatic about it," said Tody, a starting defensive end for the unbeaten Oilers. "We at last have a chance to feel the same passions at the same time and to experience the same victories."

Despite their closeness, the two giant defensive ends never had played on the same team until both suited up in Oilers uniforms for Sunday's game in the Astrodome against Cincinnati.

Bubba went to Michigan State and became an All-American and later was named an all-pro for the Baltimore Colts. Tody duplicated Bubba's All-American performance at Southern California but all-pro honors have eluded him so far.

"Wherever I've been in football, All-American, All-Pro, and all that stuff, Tody is going too," Bubba said. "I can push him to becoming all-pro material."

If he can go all out most of the time, I can come in and give him a little rest.

"This is a blessing," Bubba said of the opportunity to play with his brother. "I'd like to thank (Oakland Coach) John Madden for cutting me. At least it gave me a chance to spend what time I've got left (in pro football) with my brother."

During his first workout with the Oilers, Bubba lined up at Tody's left end position in the Oilers' three-man front alignment, but he conceivably could play at middle guard where Curley Culp now starts.

"I'm going to make both of them better," Bubba said. "Curley is a good friend of mine and my brother is my best friend. We've talked about it a lot and they know that they can't slip."

"The only thing that competition does is make you better," Bubba said. "I have to tell Tody every once in awhile, 'If you slip, I'm going to be in your back pocket.'"

Bubba missed the 1972 season because of knee surgery and was traded the following year to Oakland. Bubba says his knee had nothing to do with him leaving Oakland.

"It had to be that they brought in Ted Hendricks to play linebacker," Bubba said. "They had to get rid of Charlie Smith and me and a couple of other guys to pay his salary. "I know it was coming from the way I started playing less and less and then we got down to the final preseason game against the (Los Angeles) Rams. I didn't play at all so I knew something was happening, but the initial shock was devastating."

Bubba said family ties then brought him to Houston. "I had a couple of other offers but I decided to come down to Houston and be with Tody."

Family ties may also be responsible for Tody still being in pro football.

"My family kept me in pro football my first three years," Tody said. "In Dallas, I felt I was part of a machine, a manikin. I refused to be a puppet. At that particular time, I couldn't handle it, I don't know if I could now."

"Unless he slips, there's no way I can play," Bubba says of his chances of moving ahead of Tody. "He's having his best year as a pro. But there's one game I MUST play."

There's no need even to ask if he's talking about the Oilers Dec. 14 meeting against Oakland.

WORKING TOGETHER: Tody Smith, standing, and brother Bubba, are shown warming up before practice with the Houston Oilers. Bubba, an eight-year pro, was recently released by the Oakland Raiders and picked up by Houston, where he joined Tody who is in his fifth year of pro ball. (AP Wirephoto)

Petty Finally Cops Charlotte 500

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A funny thing happened on the way to the finish line at the Charlotte Motor Speedway Sunday — Richard Petty won his second straight race here, the National 500, after going winless for 15 years.

Petty took command of the $170,000 race when he took the lead on lap 224 and held it for the remaining 110 laps, save a half-lap loss on the 307th circuit.

Petty, who has won 12 of 25 races this season, had his Dodge in second gear instead of high when the 7th and final caution flag was lifted, and David Pearson and Buddy Baker sped past him in that order on the first turn.

Baker put his Ford beside Pearson's Mercury on the backstretch with Petty rapidly gaining speed.

Suddenly, they were three abreast going into the third, high-banked turn — Pearson high on the outside; Baker just under him, and Petty riding low. It was then that Petty shot under the two to regain the lead without officially ever losing it.

At that point Baker began dropping behind with sway bar trouble and Petty and Pearson found themselves in a 40-mile sprint to the finish line.

The Randleman, N.C., driver held off Pearson's repeated attempts to pass and nosed his Dodge under the checkered flag just 28-hundredths of a second ahead of Pearson. Baker finished 3.9 seconds back.

Petty, who won the World 600 last May, collected $28,970 ($19,000 plus lap bonuses) and virtually sewed it up an unprecedented sixth Grand National point championship.

Petty only has to finish last in the five remaining races to win the title.

Pearson collected $22,945, including $10,400 for winning the pole.

Benny Parsons, in a Chevrolet, finished fourth, four laps behind the leaders and Ceil Gordon, also in a Chevy, was a distant ten laps back for fifth.

U.S. Auto Club star A.J. Foyt, who led for 13 laps on three occasions, was sidelined on lap 264 with a broken timing chain and finished 21st.

School Boycott Urged

DETROIT (AP) — A local antibusing group, "Mothers Alert Detroit," urged parents and students to boycott Detroit schools today. The MAD group said Saturday the boycott would be held to show solidarity with similar groups in Boston, Mass., and Louisville, Ky. Carmen Roberts, executive chairman of the group, said the members did not plan to have any large-scale rally.

Leaves Hospital

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Columnist-humorist Art Buchwald, who had been hospitalized after collapsing from what doctors said was an intense pain in his stomach, has been released. A spokesman for Wellborn Baptist Hospital said Buchwald, who was released Sunday afternoon, was believed to be suffering from kidney stones. Buchwald was rushed to the hospital Saturday afternoon, prior to a scheduled speaking engagement.

Special Needs 'Waived'

DETROIT (AP) — Parents of handicapped children have charged that the special needs of their children are being waived in favor of efforts to integrate Detroit schools. The parents contend that children spend up to four hours per day on buses. They say the buses are smaller than the ones used in the past and are not equipped to handle handicapped students with crutches. Detroit school officials said 78 of the 150 buses ordered by U.S. District Judge Robert DeMascio's school integration plan went into use Wednesday. DeMascio stated that the buses could be used to ease overcrowding in the schools and also to transport handicapped students.

Optimism

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices moved higher again today as investors continued to draw encouragement from an apparent easing of the Federal Reserve's money policy.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction in early trading and gains broadly led declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the Fed's move toward easier money — reflected in last Friday's lower federal funds rate — pointed toward lower interest rates generally, which is good news for stocks.

In addition, there appears to be some additional optimism about New York City's fate. High Ford administration officials over the weekend began to talk more of the need for helping the ailing city.

Early active stocks on the Big Board included Parilla, steady at 6 1/2; Walt Disney, up 1/4 at 47; American Homes, ahead 1 to 34 1/2; Merck Co., up 1 1/2 to 74 1/2; and Philip Morris, up 1 1/2 to 48 1/2.

Last Friday the Dow Jones average moved to its sharpest daily gain in more than a month, closing up 18.66 at 813.21.

Volume on the Big Board was 16.36 million shares, and gains led losers 1,311 to 264 among the 1,775 issues traded.

A sharp drop in the nation's money supply, revealed in Fed figures issued Thursday, gave hope that the nation's central banker could now loosen up on its credit without abandoning its drive for only a "moderate" expansion in the money supply.

His Effort
To Awaken
Them Failed

SAPULPA, Okla. (AP) — "I tried to wake the others but they wouldn't wake," said 10-year-old boy who was the sole survivor of a rural house fire in which five other children died.

David Robinson said he escaped from the burning woodframe house three miles south of here early Sunday just as the windows began "popping and cracking out."

The bodies of his three brothers, sister and cousin were pulled later from their beds in a room on the south side of the house, which was burned to the ground.

David's mother and grandmother, who lived in the house, were not at home when the fire broke out about 1:30 a.m. They were located in a nearby bar by authorities after the fire was reported.

Where Are We Heading?

A FRAGILE RECOVERY

At this, the start of the fourth quarter of 1975, our economy is well into its initial recuperation from the deepest, broadest, most prolonged slump since the depression 1930s, more than 40 years ago.

But despite surface evidence suggesting it is a sturdy, even strong recovery, it already is blighted by threats which, if permitted to become realities, could abort the basically feeble upturn in a matter of months. Some nationally respected economists, in fact, are openly predicting that the shape of this movement will change into a "double hump" and we will again be sliding downward as early as mid-1976 — with all that the downward slope of a "W" next year would imply for our jobs, paychecks and profits as well as for the November 1976 elections.

The anxieties are indisputable. Skepticism is widespread among consumers and businessmen that the slump has even ended (not so surprising if the skeptic is in the basic, still weak auto or housing industries or lives in a neighborhood where joblessness is alarmingly high or is among the close to 8 million unemployed). And the challenges are enormous. Among them: an unacceptably high rate of inflation, steep level of interest rates, a huge total of unemployed, tremendous budget deficits.

Thus, so far this is a fragile and uncertain recuperation — just as the feverish boom that bred the 1974-75 slumpflation was joyless and unsustainable. But even admitting all the "ifs, ands & buts," an expansion this is. To document:

— "Real" gross national product — with the impact of price increases on the dollar totals eliminated — rose in the second and third quarters after five consecutive quarters of decline, and the rise is continuing. The advances could put the economy's real growth for 1975 at 6 to 8 per cent or even more. This is the broadest measure of our nation's output of goods and services.

— As of August, latest reporting date, production of our nation's factories, mines and utilities had risen four months in a row and the pace of rise has been accelerating. Industrial production is back to the highest level since January 1973.

— The total number of employed in the U.S. has climbed by an impressive 1,500,000 to 65,000,000, highest since November 1974. Layoffs

Lawton Sets 1.5-Mill School
Election For November 3

LAWTON — Residents of Lawton school district will vote Nov. 3 on a 1.5-mill property tax levy being sought by the school board.

School officials said the date for the election was set after it was approved by the Van Buren county elections scheduling committee.

In September, the school board had scheduled an election but left the date open, pending the county clearance.

According to school officials, money from the levy is needed to continue present school programs. It would raise an estimated $31,485 in additional local tax money and another $27,035 in state aid funds.

If approved the 1.5-mill issue would be added to the district's current 23.58 operating mill rate. Another 7.03 mills are to be levied for debt retirement this year, down from the 7.12-mill rate of last year.

Earlier this year, two other millage requests were defeated. On June 9, a six-mill increase was defeated, and on Aug. 4, two separate three-mill requests were turned down.

Since that time programs at the school have been slashed. During the last school year, 50 teachers were employed to teach 998 students in grades K-12.

This year, there are 39.2 full and part-time teachers for 1,020 students.

BHEA President Issues Denial Of Board Statements

The president of the Benton Harbor Education Association today issued a "vigorous denial" of statements made by the board of education in a telegram sent to the state superintendent of public instruction last week.

The telegram, which asked Dr. John Porter to intervene in deadlocked contract negotiations between the teachers and school board, was published in this newspaper on Oct. 1. Dr. Porter later replied that he did not have the authority to appoint a fact-finder, as requested.

Today's public response to statements included in the telegram was made by Mrs. Camilla Hunt, BHEA president and chief negotiator for the teachers.

The full text of Mrs. Hunt's statement:

The Board has accused the Association of dragging its feet in negotiations. Obviously the Board does not have all the facts. Since April 29 the Board and Association have met 27 times, totaling 104½ hours of negotiations, not the 200 hours quoted by Mr. Bentley.

Fire Hits Andrews Snack Bar

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A fire in a deep fryer caused moderate damage to the snack bar area at Andrews university's campus center building here yesterday morning.

George Smith, Berrien Springs fire chief, said the 10:50 a.m. fire broke out in the deep fryer and spread to a nearby ventilator before firemen doused the blaze.

Smith said smoke damage was reported throughout the first floor snack bar area, but fire damage was confined to the deep fryer and ventilator. No damage estimate has been made, but Smith described damage as "moderate."

"There were no injuries, Smith said.

University officials reported cleanup of the area began yesterday afternoon and attempts were being made to reopen the snack bar today.

Farmhands Accused In Robbery

Eau Claire — Three Eau Claire area farm workers were arrested this morning by state police from the Niles post in connection with the reported armed robbery of a rural Eau Claire man near here yesterday afternoon.

Lodged in the Niles city jail on charges of armed robbery were Dennis Haskins, 24, Indian Lake; and James Quincey, 37, and Robert Haskins, 45, both of Eau Claire.

Troopers said they were charged in connection with the 3:30 p.m. armed robbery of Bernard McIntyre, 41, of Eau Claire.

McIntyre told police he was following an auto down a farm lane in northern Berrien township near Eau Claire when the car stopped in front of him and three men jumped out. One of the three men brandished a revolver, demanded cash, and the trio made off with $75 and a watch, McIntyre told police.

Police said McIntyre was not injured in the holdup. The three men were arrested at three different Eau Claire labor camps early this morning, police said.

Three Oaks Father, Daughter Seek $350,000 In Crash Suit

A Three Oaks father and daughter have filed suit in Berrien Circuit court seeking $350,000 in damages for injuries the daughter allegedly sustained when a car in which she was riding crashed into a tree.

The plaintiffs, Kerry and Martin Priest, of Flynn road, claim Kerry sustained a broken arm and leg, a head concussion and loss of memory continuing to the present, and heart

Mr. Bentley, the Board President, has repeatedly stated that the Board would not agree to binding arbitration because it would eliminate local control even though the Board employs a labor relations attorney from outside the district to negotiate against the teachers and has requested the intervention of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Board has failed to respond to informal petitions signed by 3,500 residents urging the Board to submit the unsettled issues to binding arbitration. These petitions were submitted to Mr. Philip McDonald, Secretary of the Board, on Tuesday, September 30th.

The Association feels the issues as presented by the Board are distorted. The BHEA believes it is necessary to clarify these issues in order to place them in their proper perspective.

The Benton Harbor Education Association has been accused of participating in an illegal strike. The Association did dramatize its position with a one-day protest. This protest did not disrupt the educational process and did not do irreparable harm to the district's students. When informed of the protest action, parents chose to withhold their children from school during the protest; 85% of the district's students were not in attendance.

The Board has accused the BHEA of using a "master strategy" formulated by the Michigan Education Association. The Association did not contact the MEA for assistance until the last week in August. The Board, however, is a member of the Michigan Association of School Boards (NASB) and has employed the Kalamazoo labor relations attorney for several years.

The Board has been continuously unwilling to agree to binding fact finding. The BHEA contends that fact finding would be a futile effort unless it were binding on both parties. We have continuously stated we would be willing to accept binding fact finding or arbitration.

President's release time for association activities has been criticized as unjustifiable. This, however, has been a practice within the System for nine years. Precedence has demonstrated that the release time has been beneficial to the administration and teachers and has not harmed children.

The Board proposed that probationary teachers not be allowed use of the standard grievance procedure for evaluations. The Board acknowledges the language in effect for nine years in previous contracts has been effective. Probationary teachers under the new proposal would not be able to appeal evaluations to MIERC (Michigan Employment Relations Commission), as, in the past, for binding arbitration by an impartial third party. The Board proposes to substitute a panel of two administrators and one teacher with final decision left to the superintendent regardless of panel recommendation.

The Board refuses to guarantee a duty-free lunch period for teachers, a practice unheard of in other occupations. Even the school administration building is closed from 12-1 daily in order to provide for a lunch period.

Consideration of salary retroactivity has been denied by the Board since the Board contends that ample time was provided to settle the contract before the opening of school.

The Board's attorney, however, did not present a salary package to the teachers for consideration until the first day of school, two days after the expiration of the previous contract and the day teachers returned to work, August 25, 1975. Since teachers were not offered an economic package until after the opening of school the Board is the party who is stalling negotiations.

The Board's proposal for evaluation is incomplete, suggesting the implementation of their accountability system be left to "trust." Teachers cannot accept an incomplete evaluation program. The MBO System (Management By Objectives) is an industrial concept not an educational system. Teachers are requesting an evaluation system relevant to education and specifically to the Benton Harbor schools. The Association feels that administrators and teachers should determine together the best evaluative process.

We are assured that these clarifications will be helpful in determining the facts. The Association has left no stone unturned and no avenue unexplored in its efforts to reach an agreement. We have willingly agreed to contract language changes wherever problems have existed. We are not as willing to agree to changes when there has been no demonstrated need.

ONE VICTIM STOPPED TWICE

Purses With Over $600 Stolen From Two Women

Two women reported thefts of purses, containing a total of more than $600, state police of the Benton Harbor post said Sunday, Harbor post Sunday.

Two robbers, who stopped a Watervliet woman to ask directions, took her purse, and a Benton Harbor woman's purse was stolen from a room in the church where she was attending services.

Mary Curtis, Baldwin avenue, Watervliet, told troopers two men first stopped her car on US-33 north, Hagar township, asking directions about 10:15 p.m. About 15 minutes later, she reported, while on Central avenue near I-196 in Hagar township, she stopped for a car with flashing lights, thinking it was a police car.

She said the same two men got into the backseat of her car, grabbed her purse, then fled in their car. She said her purse had $385 in cash inside.

Thomasine Jackson, 1158 Ogden avenue, said she left her purse, containing $230 in cash, in a room at the New Bethel Baptist Church, Townline road. The empty purse was found at the church, troopers said, and some of the personal papers were recovered about seven hours later at Fairplain Plaza.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested a young Lincoln township man Sunday after a high speed chase that ended at a construction site in Royalton township.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of reckless driving, fleeing and eluding police and for having no vehicle license tags, was Harry James Fette, 18, of 1477 East Marquette Woods road.

Troopers said a car, traveling at high speed, passed them on Miners road near the intersection of US-33 where they were investigating a non-injury accident about noon. The driver ignored their signals to stop, troopers reported, and they gave chase. The car was stopped, after a several mile chase, at a pipeline construction site off Ravine road.

Michael Ray Jenkins, 20, of 856 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, was arrested on two charges of disorderly conduct (gambling and resisting arrest) after a foot chase of about five blocks Saturday night. Patrolman Phil Harris reported. Harris said several men were observed shooting dice at Fifth street and Territorial road. Others escaped and one was captured, Harris said.

Oliver Shivers, 30, of 1048 Pipestone street, was booked by Benton Harbor police Saturday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Police said the observed a man attempting to assault David Nash, 22, of 647 East High street, with a beard.

Benton Harbor police said Katherine Hollins, 24, of 531 Plummer court, was treated at Mercy hospital for a head cut, apparently inflicted by a high-heeled shoe wielded by a man while she was talking on the telephone.

JoAnn Reese, 20, of 448 Pipestone street, complained to Benton Harbor police that an uninvited man came to her apartment early Sunday and during a struggle poured a gallon of yellow paint on her, two guests and around the apartment. She was advised on the procedure of signing a formal complaint.

A Berrien township farm worker was cut early today by another man wielding a butcher knife during an argument, Berrien sheriff's deputies reported.

Woodrow Neely, 61, employed at the Leonard Frank farm, M-140, Berrien Center, where the incident occurred shortly before 1 a.m., was treated and released from Berrien General hospital. Two cuts to his forehead required 20 stitches. Deputies reported no arrests pending signing of a complaint.

Benton Harbor police said two men reported thefts from their cars while they were attending church Sunday. Police said the locked cars were parked at Benton and East Main streets and the doors apparently were opened with coat hangers.

J.C. Betts, 781 Edgcomb avenue, reported a tape player, tapes and a bumper jack were taken from his car. Nathaniel Gathright, 1035 East Main street, said tapes and a tape cleaner were stolen from his car.

Other thefts reported to Benton Harbor police:

—A first aid box from a Rampart ambulance parked in front of the Fidelity building.

—A stereo set, speakers and television from the home of Pam King, 580 Broadway.

Rosemary Jones, 1946 East Britain avenue, told Benton township police her car was stolen from near her home Sunday. She said the keys were in the 1972 brown, two-door Chevrolet.

John Blair, South Bend, Ind., reported to St. Joseph township police the theft of two fishing downriggers, valued at $320, from his boat docked at Whispering Willows marina, 2383 Niles road.

St. Joseph township police Sunday took two Fairplain boys into custody on charges they shot a hole in the window of a Fairplain home with a BB gun.

Edward Schultz, 221 Bradford drive, told police his neighbors saw two boys shoot at the window, valued at over $100, with a gun. The 12 and 14-year-old boys were turned over to their parents pending petitioning to juvenile court on a vandalism charge.

Land Use Measures Opposed

another legislative mechanism to implement a no-growth policy. Such inbalance in approach ignores land as an economic commodity as well as an environmental resource. It rejects the essential land role of providing economic security and viability to any given area. It fails to recognize that industrial firms, business enterprises, employers, wage earners, employees, homeowners, highways, mines and taxpayers are integral parts of the environment. It avoids the reality that human resources are natural resources too. This approach disregards a reasonable and realistic balance between environmental and economic interests.

Public policies for planning, developing and managing use of land must allow for economic expansion, the no-growth advocates notwithstanding. All types of job producing industries must have a place in such planning. An increasing demand for energy dictates expansion of utility facilities with reasonable dispatch. Coal and iron ore must be mined at their source or they cannot be mined at all. Harassment through nuisance law suits to deny the necessary facilities to mine denies the consuming public products from the mines. Airports, highways, housing, projects, foundries, steel mills, chemical plants are just as vital to our economy as the clean glamor industries. They all must be considered when state guidelines are drawn. There must be a balanced policy. There should be maximum emphasis on local control with minimal state direction. Land use laws should not become human abuse laws.

Legislation is pending on regulation of sand mining. Only six companies are involved in this operation on two and a half miles of sand dunes along Lake Michigan. Yes, a bill would establish a new bureaucracy to control this relatively small business.

Harry G. Flynn, Governmental Affairs Officer, Manley Brother Sand Mining Company, Chesterford, Indiana

Letter Aims At Rebuttal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate backer of a bill codifying federal criminal law is circulating a letter to fellow senators to rebut reports that the measure would make it a federal crime for a citizen to shoot an intruder in his home.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures, said state laws would continue to apply in cases such as the home intruder, except in areas under federal jurisdiction, like military reservations and national parks.
